State's President Hannah . . .

"Uncle John" went to Washington in 1953 as Assistant Secretary of Defense. But even though he spent most of his time in the capital, he managed to get home several times a month and still kept his finger on MSC happenings. Michigan State is proud to claim him as President.

Fall . . .

Autumn at Michigan State College is not quite like autumn anywhere else. Fall term is characterized by two things: beauty and football.

Because football is king at East Lansing during fall term, and what student can help but remember strolling to Macklin Field on a crisp Saturday afternoon.

During fall, the campus changes from a place of rolling land, trees and buildings, to a colorful art gallery.

Nostalgia may take many different forms. But if you are a former student at Michigan State, part of this nostalgia is certain to include fall term at East Lansing.

Fall term, 1952, was typical of all fall terms at MSC. The football team may have been a little better, but this really didn't matter in making the complete picture. It still would have been an East Lansing autumn.

Registration at the camp was the beginning of a weekend of relaxation before the grind of classes and studying.

Freshman arrive at pre-Orientation Week summer camp sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA.

Fall's crop of freshmen struggled through an Orientation Week packed with meetings, parties, tests, and receptions. In what onlookers called a confused whirl they began the week with a welcome by President Hannah.

They said their feet ached from standing in lines, and their eyes burned from too many tests. Upperclassmen scoffed, remembered their freshmen days, and helped the newcomers. Worn out but ready for anything, they began the year.

Freshmen Struggle Through Orientation Week

Registration Week found 13,903 students visiting enrollment officers and plodding through the registration maze in the Auditorium. State's population showed an increase of 400 students over last fall's figure.

Coeds were dismayed when registration totals showed a drop in the ratio of men to women. From above a two-to-one mark, the ratio dropped to 1.99 men to each coed.

Freshmen entered a reorganized basic college, and sophomores juggled schedules to keep on the old system.

Three freshmen get their first look at their major source of campus news—the State News.

During First Week

The complex mechanisms of registration ground to a halt as the last groups of students dribbled in. Schedule conflicts which gave headaches to both students and officials were ironed out. The well-worn phrase, "How was your summer?" was tossed around as if it were the Spartan practice football.

College photographer John Randall prints student activity cards, aided by a machine he invented.

Fingerprints—another part of each student's college records.

The term was off to a rapid start as the football team began a season that was to carry it to the national championship. General Eisenhower came to Lansing as part of his campaign trip and thousands of students flocked to greet him. The green and white signs in front of every dormitory which boasted that the buildings had been built without the aid of public funds were missed by upperclassmen. Basic Air Force ROTC students sprouted in new blue uniforms, while those in Army ROTC continued wearing their drab khakis. MSC barely squeaked by Oregon State with Slonac's field goal. The Activities Carnival, sponsored by AWS and Men's Council, introduced more campus activities to amazed freshmen who were asking, "What doesn't this school have?" The Lecture-Concert Series got underway and busy but culture-minded students turned away from their studies to attend. Neva Jane Langley, Miss America of 1953, spent four days on campus as part of her nationwide tour. She was the guest of Delta Tau Delta fraternity and stayed at Kellogg Center.

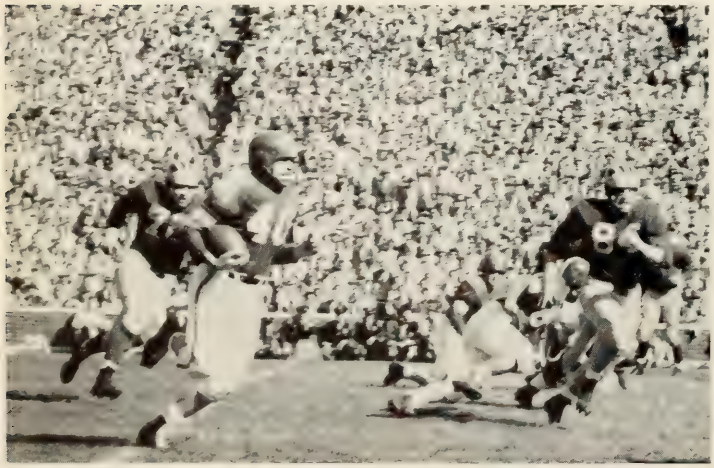
State 27 -- Michigan 13

Michigan's onrushing Lowell Perry moves in to down breakaway artist Jimmy Ellis on the MSC 30-yard line. The Spartan safetyman's long kickoff return set the stage for Capt. Don McAuliffe's touchdown jaunt. Gordie Serr throws a key two-man block in the background.

McAuliffe sweeps wide around right end on the start of his sensational 70-yard gallop down the sidelines which put the Spartans back in the game.



Spartan defensive flanker Ed Luke breaks through the Wolverine's screen of blockers to harrass passer Ted Kress. State's hard-charging defense held Michigan to only 151 yards gained via the air route.

Coach Biggie Munn went into the season opener at Ann Arbor with only two starters back on the offensive line-up and a new defensive unit.

Picking up where they left off last year, State's football warriors spotted a fired-up Michigan crew 13 points and then rallied to score the most points a MSC squad has ever tallied against the Wolverines to win easily, 27-13.

The win was State's third straight triumph over arch-rival Michigan.

After Michigan's upset-happy crew jumped to an unexpected 13-0 lead, Capt. Don McAuliffe electrified the capacity crowd of 97,239 by taking off around right end on a 70-yard touchdown sprint that put the Spartans on the road to their 16th straight victory.

Quarterback Tom Yewcic, playing in his first starting assignment, paced State to its tying touchdown by connecting with Duckett on a 40-yard pass. Bolden went over for the TD.

Billy Wells, the team's leading ground gainer, scored next to put the Spartans ahead. Yewcic's accurate passing arm gave MSC its last marker of the afternoon with Bolden on the receiving end.

End Ellis Duckett snares a 40-yard pass from quarterback Tom Yewcic on the Wolverine's six-yard line.

State students were proud of a Lecture-Concert series which brought some of the country's finest musical and dramatic productions to campus. Among the outstanding dramatic events during the year were Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell" and Benet's "John Brown's Body". A Fred Waring group, the Boston Pops, Robert Shaw Chorale, Valdimir Horowitz, Nathan Milstein, Rise Stevens and Jose Limon were artists who gave memorable performances.

Fraternities Bid for Rushees

Following a series of friendly parties, rushees and fraternities made their choices. The new pledges were soon wearing their pledge pins and seriously studying pledge manuals, anticipating the day when they would be active members.

Students took their first look at the green and white band uniforms during the Michigan game. The arrival climaxed a two-year campaign to oust the former military-type khaki uniforms. The green uniforms with white accessories included a cross belt, shoulder knots, citation cords, spats, gloves and a white trouser stripe. A green trenchcoat was also part of the new wardrobe.

Director Leonard Falcone's 25th anniversary as college bandmaster was commemorated with an elaborate banquet in the Union ballroom. Over 150 alumni and well-wishers attended. High point of the evening was the presentation of a Baldwin spinet which had been stowed behind the curtains of the ballroom stage. Meanwhile, congratulations were received from alumni and organizations throughout the nation.

Football Tops Fall IM Slate

Touch football is king of MSC's fall intramural sports program. Under the arc-lights of three gridirons in Old College Field, approximately 600 players compete four nights a week in the fraternity, independent and dormitory leagues.

The climax comes in late November when the block champs compete for league and all-college titles.

Michigan State's long winning streak almost came to an abrupt end during the Spartan's second outing of the season. A dramatic last second field goal pulled the game out of the fire.

A tough, inspired Oregon State crew knotted the count at 14-all early in the final stanza. With three minutes of play remaining, the Spartans took over the ball on their own 33 following a OSU punt.

Yewcic, tossing last ditch desperation passes, hit Dekker, Slonac and Bolden to move the ball to OSU's 13-yard line with seven seconds left.

Munn sent kickoff specialist Gene Lekenta into the game for a field goal attempt. Lekenta's kick was high and the ball swung to the right of the goal post. An overly-eager Beaver lineman had charged too soon, however, and Coach Biggie Munn's "Comeback Kids" had another chance with two seconds remaining. This time, Lekenta connected to leave 22,595 Beaver fans stunned and breathless as the Spartan's racked up victory number 17.

Tackle Gordie Serr clears the way for right halfback LeRoy Bolden, who moves the ball to the Beaver 21-yard line after a 28-yard scamper to spark State's second touchdown in the first half.

Carnival Successful Again

The ROTC exhibit, which gave an insight into the future of most college men, is probed by a group of fascinated spectators.

The journalism short course gave 50 Michigan high school students practical experience in journalism as well as a taste of college life. They attended classes, put out their own issue of the State News and visited Lansing's daily, the State Journal.

MSC Welcomes High School Journalists

High School Journalism Day draws thousands of young journalism aspirants to MSC each October. A full day of lectures by men of the profession is mapped out for them by MSC's Journalism Department. At the close of the session, awards are given for individual newspapers and the most outstanding paper receives the John S. Knight trophy.

Texas A&M and Syracuse fell easily in the Spartan's first two home games to catapult MSC into the nation's number one spot in the football polls.

Displaying tremendous offensive strength, State scored at will to trounce the Aggies, 48-6 to stretch their win streak to 18, the longest in the nation.

State's 48 points were the most scored against Texas A&M since 1898. McAuliffe plunged over for the first score and was soon followed by Bolden. Yewcic then threw two scoring tosses to Duckett. After Slonac tallied, Thrower put on a sensational passing exhibition, hitting Zagers and Raterink for touchdowns in the nationally televised game.

Following the same script, State trounced Syracuse the following week, 48-7. After scoring a touchback on the kickoff, Ellis, McAuliffe, Wells, and Bolden tallied TD's for a 27-0 half-time lead. Benson, Bolden, and Zagers crossed the goal stripe in the second half.

More Dances . . .

See yourself in these pictures? If you were at the Phillips-Snyder term party, "Candlelight Cotillion," you might. The semi-formal dance was held in the Union Ballroom in November. It was typical of the many dances and parties held fall term.

The Phillips-Snyder dance shared the week-end with the "Greek Serenade," Pan-Hel and IFC-sponsored ball, a hayride, a Mardi-Gras dance, open houses and record dances.

The only cloud on the happy-go-lucky horizon was the unavoidable fact that all the inveterate dancers had to pay the pipers . . . at final exams.

Money problems were the major concern of the Student Government fall term. After countless arguments, revisions, and hearings, the Congress approved a 1953 budget of $5,800. The money was to come from a twenty-five cent student tax to be levied winter and spring terms. Largest portion of the budget was set aside for "direct benefits" to the student for a Congress newsletter.

A bill to separate the Campus Chest from the Student Government caused much controversy, but was finally defeated in a close vote.

Disputes over seats in Congress, in particular fraternity representation, kept the tempo of Congress meetings lively.

Exams Draw Near

Studies were the order of the day; whether in the library and the library annex, at home, or walking to classes, everybody buckled down to books before exams.

Approximately 37,000 visitors and alumni crowded the MSC campus for the 37th annual Homecoming weekend, and more than 11,000 alumni swelled the Lansing area hotels to capacity.

Most fraternities and sororities planned parties and open houses for their alumni, and the Alumni Club of Lansing held a party at the Hotel Olds. The visitors drove around the city and among the sorority displays which attracted their attention were Chi Omega, above, and Kappa Kappa Gamma, right.

Thursday of Homecoming Week, weird structures began to appear in front of several living units. By Friday afternoon, almost all of the units had vague outlines of things better to come in front of their house or dorm.

Students had spent weeks in preparation, molding papier-mache, struggling with chicken wire and bashing fingers with hammers. Some living units began even earlier, with members taking time out from other activities to sit in the basement making paper flowers or painting intricate designs on cardboard.

By Saturday morning, every display was in shape ready to be judged. East Lansing assumed a carnival atmosphere and weather was perfect for the game.

There were displays depicting Sparty playing records, fishing, riding waterfalls and digging graves. At ten o'clock on Saturday morning, the judging took place. The results were announced at half-time and members of Delta Chi fraternity and Chi Omega sorority received news that they had won.

Capt. McAuliffe, the Spartans' leading ground gainer in the Penn State tussle, rips off a large gain to set up State's third touchdown early in the second half. Below he greets Homecoming Queen, Dee Means.

Number 20 Comes Via Aerial Route

Taking to the air for four long touchdown passes, Michigan State's surging Spartans rolled on to victory number 20 at the expense of Penn State's Nittany Lions. The third largest crowd ever to pack Macklin Field, 51,162, witnessed the slaughter.

Penn State, boasting an undefeated record, grabbed an early 7-0 lead before State's aerial might began to show and give MSC a 34-7 victory. Tom Yewcic's first pass was to Doug Bobo for State's tying TD. In the final minutes of the second quarter, Yewcic hit Ellis Duckett with another scoring aerial to put State in the lead.

A blonde, green-eyed beauty from Schenectady, New York, Dee Means, outshone the four other finalists for the Homecoming Queen title. Her comment when notified of the selection: "Are you sure it isn't just a rumor?" Winter term, Miss Means went on to become Queen of the Big Ten.

Homecoming Court

One of the traditions which is the source of constant conjecture and curiosity is the selection of a Queen to reign over festivities on Homecoming day.

Final choice of the Queen rested with members of Penn State's football team, who were sent portraits of the five candidates by a professional photographer.

The five finalists were named from candidates from each women's living unit. Judges in the first elimination were the Sports Editor of the Lansing State Journal, a member of the Downtown Coaches Club, a former Powers Model, a staff writer at WJIM and the co-owner of WILS. They rated the coeds on a basis of 20 points for beauty and ten each for appearance, posture, personality and poise.

At the Homecoming game, the queen was presented a bouquet of roses by the football captain, Don McAuliffe. She and her court were escorted on the field in convertibles by Excalibur members.

Later that evening, Miss Means received a trophy from last year's Queen, Mary Lonn Trapp, as well as several gifts from local merchants at the Homecoming Dance.

Candidates from the living units beam for photographer Arn Bransdorfer.

Ibsen's "The Doll House" Chosen as Term Play

Plans for the presentation of Henrik Ibsen's drama about a naive young wife who defied social convention, "The Doll's House" started almost as soon as students returned to campus fall term. Co-sponsors were members of Theta Alpha Phi, dramatics honorary, and the Speech Department. Polly Clingerman took the lead in the play which ran for three nights in Fairchild Theater.

Porpoise's Ninth Waterfest, "Aqua-Maniacs", Held in Jenison

"Aqua-Maniacs," Porpoise Fraternity's ninth annual water show, was an effective contrast to the term play. Held in Jenison, the show featured comedy skits, dedications, swimming relays and diving exhibitions.

The hour-and-a-half show ran for three days in the Jenison pool and was patterned after the Olympic meets.

Crowning of Marie Ann Riley, 1952 Porpoise Queen, opened the waterfest. Highlights during the program were the introduction of MSC participants in the Olympics, an Indian water ballet and torch parade by the members of Porpoise.

Below are the Porpoise Court, Janice Dempsey, Dorothy Ripper, Queen Marie Riley, Carol Perkins and Virginia Carson.

After the Spartan harrier team was upset 27-28 in its season opener by Wisconsin, few track experts dared to predict that the 1952 MSC squad would score an unprecedented sweep of the nation's major cross country titles by the end of the season.

Only bright feature of the Spartans' opening day run was Captain Kepford's first-place performance.

State started its climb to the top in its next meet by upsetting Penn State and Michigan in a three-team meet.

. . . but Spartan captain finishes alone at end of grueling four-mile run.

Kepford toured the MSC four-mile course in the fastest time ever recorded by a Spartan distanceman to win handily. Scutt was State's second scorer with a fourth-place finish.

In a final tune-up before the Big Ten meet, the Spartans, again led by Kepford, took five out of the first six places to overwhelm Notre Dame, 19-39. Garbe placed third.

Aided by a block by McAuliffe, Yewcic scores State's second and decisive touchdown in their narrow conquest of Purdue's Boilermakers.

o National Championships

State's rock-ribbed defensive unit again came to the rescue to keep the Spartan's win streak alive in their narrow 14-7 defeat of Purdue.

Playing on Purdue's home ground, State stood off a last minute Boilermaker touchdown drive by a brilliant pass interception by Weaver. The victory was State's 21st in a row and eighth straight against a Big Ten foe since the Spartans joined the Conference.

Michigan State scored first in the hard fought game. McAuliffe climaxed a Spartan drive early in the first half. A few plays later State tallied again when Yewcic, electing to run after being trapped on a pass play, broke loose and went all the way. Slonac converted both times.

With MSC leading 14-7 in the fading minutes of the game, Purdue was headed for a sure TD before Weaver intercepted a Boilermaker aerial on the Spartan five-yard line.

Large replicas of sorority and fraternity pins decorated the Kellogg Center's Ballroom for the PanHel-IFC Dance in mid-November.

Drama Quartet Returns With Benet Epic

There was a double line when the Lecture-Concert Series offered Benet's "John Brown's Body" in December. The Drama Quartet was making a second trip to MSC—this time with Tyrone Power, Raymond Massey, Judith Anderson, and the Walter Schumann choral group.

All of the Lecture-Concert programs displayed the same planning and consideration of student taste . . . such artists as Vladimir Horowitz and Gladys Swarthout delighted the classical fans, and "extras" like the Mills Brothers, the road show of "Oklahoma!", and Ethel Smith delighted nearly everybody.

The lectures, too, were planned to appeal even to students with five lectures per week . . . such speakers as Hanson Baldwin, N. Y. Times military editor, Robert Scott, of the Times editorial staff, and Life photographer Margaret Bourke-White proved that "an educational evening" didn't have to put the audience to sleep.

Hoosiers Become 22nd Victim

With Wells, McAuliffe and Slonac ripping the Hoosiers' defense wide open on straight power plays, the Spartans easily downed Indiana, 41-14, in a rough and heated contest.

Yewcic hit Bobo for a TD pass in the first 56 seconds of the game. After Indiana went ahead, 7-6, the Spartans' ground attack opened up to send Wells over twice and Bolden once. McAuliffe also scored twice smashing over from the one-yard line the first time and catching a 57-yard pass from Thrower for his second TD.

In one of the most unusual plays of the season, Fowler, Spartan right tackle, nabs an aerial fumble after the ball was knocked out of Yewcic's hand.

Job Prospects Discussed at Carnival

Students wandered around looking the carnival over before deciding to stop by for talks with company representatives. In the two-and-a-half days it ran, the carnival attracted more than 10,000 people including faculty and East Lansing residents.

The Career Carnival, held fall term in the concourse of the Union's second floor, gave students first-hand information and advice about their plans for the future. This year's carnival stressed a "It's Your Move" theme, both in its advertising and displays.

Representatives from companies both large and small came to the career carnival, equipped with literature, movies and prepared talks to interest students in their fields. Booths were set up with charts and diagrams, to make the presentation more interesting.

As a result of the carnival, many seniors contracted for jobs and undergrads were able to plan their work for the summer.

The Spartans put on a convincing finale to their second straight undefeated season by unleashing their biggest touchdown torrent in three years to trounce Marquette, 62-13.

State's 24th straight victory was the clincher for MSC's first national football championship.

Two offensive records were broken and one tied as the entire 60-man Spartan squad saw action during the muddy afternoon.

Marquette Rout Climaxes Season

The 33 first downs broke the short-lived record set against Texas A&M earlier in the season. Twenty-five first downs by rushing also entered the record book as did Slonac's eight conversions which tied the old mark. State's 62 point splurge was the highest racked up by a Green and White team since 1949.

Nine times Spartans crossed the Marquette goal line to record the largest margin of victory in the long win streak. Slonac and Bolden drove for two counters each to pace the attack. Wells, Thrower, Pisano, Duckett and Fairbanks also broke into the scoring column.

Dohoney helps Dekker with his shoulder pads for the last time before the Marquette game.

Raterink goes for a short gain behind perfect blocking.

Slonac's 20-point splurge gave him the 1952 scoring crown with a season total of 61 points. McAuliffe and Bolden, who shared the left halfback post, tied for second with 54 points.

Eighteen seniors played their final game for MSC in the Marquette contest. Panin, who was one of 19 squad members to leave this year, was on the shelf with a broken leg.

The Spartan coaching staff of freshman coach Devine, end coach Edwards, line coach Daugherty (seated), backfield coach Sebo, and "Coach of the Year" Munn was named the best in the nation after the Spartans completed their second straight undefeated season.

Campus floriculturists got a chance to show off their green thumbs shortly before Thanksgiving in the sixth annual flower show which lasted for two days in Demonstration Hall.

Awards were given for floral arrangements and a style show was planned with 20 coeds including the Harvest Queen and court as models. The show featured about 150 displays of wedding bouquets, bowl and vase arrangements and corsages. Flowers for the spectacularly colorful event were donated by florists throughout the state.

Hunters and dancers celebrated Thanksgiving each in his own way. Fraternity and sorority parties filled the weekend before vacation, and Shaw held its semi-formal dance. Church and "Y" groups sponsored shindigs and services.

Vacation Nears

The end of fall term drew to a close and a much-needed Christmas vacation was just around the corner. Over MSC lay a mask of snow that glistened on hedges and gave a different kind of beauty to the campus than is found during any other season.

Plans were made for the holidays and some students trekked southward to sunny Florida while others looked forward to the old-fashioned type of Christmas in the North.

The grill was crowded as usual and the atmosphere reflected the cheery decorations put up by the Union Board. Greenery was placed among the arches, and in the lower lounge a huge Christmas tree drew admiration from visitors and students who frequented the building.

MSC is a lonesome place during Christmas vacation . . . but just before the holidays, the Yuletide spirit hits everybody. Union Board members are shown painting the Grill doors with appropriate slogans, "Happy Hangover!" and "Merry Tummy-Ache!"

The faculty may appear, during class hours, to be unaffected by the natural human need for occasional relaxation . . . but, to coin a cliche, teachers are people, too. These pictures of the faculty party show that professors enjoy conversation and dancing just as much as their students do . . . but, with the work they have to do (somebody has to check those term papers!), the faculty party is one of the few chances they have to relax and get together informally.

Proof That Profs Are People . . .

Caroling Kindles Christmas Spirit

Yuletide spirit is spurred by the Pi Phi's and Delt's who annually sponsor the Tree Lighting Ceremony . . . one of the most nostalgic moments in pre-holiday activities. The old and beautiful carols seem to affect "sophisticated" collegians in the same way it affects their kid brothers and sisters. Perhaps this is what is known as the "Christmas spirit . . . "

During final week, there was a strange combination of homesickness . . . no place is like home at Christmas, anyway . . . the usual last-minute study rush, and vacation farewells until winter term started the whole process of resolutions, faltering will-power, and last-minute studying over again.

The Purdue Glee Club paid the Union a visit that last week, furnishing a needed breather in the hectic, but sentimental, last few days of the term. Their setting was traditional . . . a tree was the center of the Ballroom decorations . . . but somehow modern design didn't belong with the decorations for this one holiday.

Very few experiences are more gratifying than observing a group of children at Christmas, and for this reason, almost all living units did something for the "kids." Whether they were underprivileged children from Lansing or the neighbors' children across the street didn't matter for all kids have the same beautiful simplicity when they light up at the sight of Santy and presents.

ATO copped its third straight all-college touch football championship by downing East Shaw 2, 28-13. The winners also racked up their fifth straight IFC crown. Members include: First Row—Wilmot, Matthes, Barkeley, Colley, Kaiser, Brownell, Allen, Zimmerman. Second Row — Poel, Cunningham, Blanchard, Landman, Bates, Barkley, Phillips, Hermanson, Dalman, Holmes and Coach Bishop.

IM Football Team Champs

Phillips 2 edged East Shaw 12-7 in a close, hard-fought ball-game to win the all-dorm grid title. Members of the winning team are: First Row—Malila, White, Westwater, Bob Jones, and Ward. Second Row—Poplawski, Grobman, D. Jones, Siegrist.

Ulrey won the independent championship by whitewashing JFU, 19-0. Team players included: First Row—Mannisto, Toti, Niemi, Kehl and Marzolf. Second Row—Hyde, MacCormick, Mudar, Pullen, Kuusisto and McDonough.

Team balance was the secret of the Spartan cross country squad that made an unprecedented sweep of the Big Ten, IC4A and NCAA championships.

Although Coach Karl Schlademan had one of the nation's top distance runners in Capt. Jim Kepford, he also had a handful of other consistent performers that gave the Spartans the depth they needed for their record-breaking feat.

Kepford won all three of the Spartan's regular season tune-ups and placed second in the Big Ten race and third in the IC4A and NCAA meets.

In becoming the first MSC squad to win two straight Big Ten titles, the Spartans totaled only 28 points in their brilliant victory, second lowest in conference history.

State beat Army by a 47-point margin to take IC4A honors for the first time since 1948.

The squad barely squeezed by Indiana for their NCAA victory, run over the MSC course. A slim three points was the margin of victory.

Zerbe heads for the finish line with another Spartan point.

The O'Donnell trophy, emblematic of the national collegiate football championship, came into the Spartans' possession for the first time since the grid sport was introduced on the MSC campus back in 1896.

Michigan State came close last year but was edged out by Tennessee in the final poll. This year there was little doubt who the winner of the coveted award would be.

Much of the credit for State's 24-game win streak rests with seniors: First Row — Panin, Vogt, Weaver, Benson, Kush, Luke. Second Row—Tamburo, Capt. McAuliffe, Dekker, Pisano, Wilson, Morgan, Timmerman.

All-American honors, bowl games and other awards piled up in rapid succession for the nation's number one football team.

Almost every regular of the squad was mentioned on at least one "dream" team.

Guard Frank Kush, linebacker Dick Tamburo and halfback Don McAuliffe received the most mention. Coach Biggie Munn, who was head coach of the winning East team in the annual Shrine game, was presented with the official "Coach of the Year" title.

McAuliffe also received "Back of the Year" honors and Tamburo "Lineman of the Year."

Safetyman Jim Ellis again was named to the Players All-American squad to become the first Spartan ever to be placed on an All-American team two years in succession.

Tamburo received the Governor's Award, signifying his selection as most valuable player by his Spartan teammates. For the second year, Doug Weaver, jovial middle linebacker, was recipient of the Oil Can trophy, given annually to the member of the team providing the most humor. Defensive back John Wilson, a Rhodes Scholar, received the Ross trophy signifying scholastic as well as athletic achievement.

Bowl game participants were:

East-West Shrine Bowl: Tamburo, Dekker, McAuliffe.

North-South Game: Kush, Luke, Wilson.

Blue-Gray Game: Serr, Benson, Timmerman.

Senior Bowl: Kush, McAuliffe.

Hula Bowl: Dekker.

Winter . . .

From December to March, the pace changes at Michigan State. This is winter term, party term, study term, get-up-when-it's-still-dark term. This is a term of contrasts. Students recall the feeling of utter hopelessness on walking outdoors in zero weather to go to an eight o'clock class . . . still half-asleep; heading to a class in which he really isn't interested and remembering the warm sack.

But then there are the good memories. The J-Hop, the Spinster's Spin, the Saturday night parties at the house. These more than compensate. Just when there seems to be no end in sight, the realization comes: "Only two more weeks until finals!" Seniors, for the first time, remember that this will be the last final week they will suffer through. Another winter comes rapidly to a close and spring is just over the horizon.

Sorority rushing continued winter term after having started fall term with a series of informal teas. These winter stages were much more fun for actives and rushees as costumes replaced formals for actives and bobby soxs replaced hose and heels on the rushees. Better acquaintance was achieved due to the increased time limit at each succeeding stage. Sorority houses put on various types of clever skits based on Chinese, Toyland, Stork Club, Calendar and other themes. The exteriors of many houses were decorated, as well as the interiors, and members stitched up costumes and rehearsed entertainment.

However, entertainment by the sororities did not comprise the whole of rushing. Skits were kept to a minimum time length and members and rushees were primarily interested in getting to know each other as both groups had to make choices before the last stage. This final stage was the preference dessert when a rushee visited the one house of her choice. Formal pledging followed on the Sunday.

Below: Dorothy Samuelson leads Kappa Kappa Gamma pledges in a fraternity song.

The end of formal pledging found past rushees still busy but this time they were engrossed in pledge activities instead of walking from house to house through the snow. Spending Saturday mornings at the house was a wonderful time to become better acquainted with active members and with fraternity living. Pledges gave parties for other sorority pledges and for chapter actives; worked on campaigns within the house and for all-college functions and at the same time learned the history and songs of their group. Learning chapter history did not comprise the only studying, however. Individual pledges were anxious to maintain high scholarship in view of the day of initiation to full membership.

Before settling down to quiet concentration at the library away from winter's cold winds, students must locate references in the long row of card files or graduate stacks. Following a wait for the books, trips for additional references, the real work commences.

Library Frequented by Eager Students

Winter term was augmented by the college's Lecture-Concert Series, which provided the student body with its usual variety of first-class entertainment.

Concerts by the Gershwin Festival and the Boston Pops Orchestra were among the many which afforded students with memorable musical moments.

Right: The popular Robert Shaw Chorale, which was called back for nine encores.

L-C Series Brings a Variety of Talent

Vladimir Horowitz, world-famous pianist, amazed a huge audience with his virtuosity and control. His program featured works by Scriabin, Lizst, Bach and Chopin.

Rise Stevens, who was deterred from an appearance at MSC fall term because of illness, was another favorite on the series. She was at her best with selections from Carmen, the role which she has portrayed with the Metropolitan Opera.

In 1914, 900 Michigan residents traveled on foot, horseback, or by horse and buggy to the first annual Farmers' Week. This year, over 35,000 came to MSC, the first institution to teach agriculture as a science.

Speakers—including Milton Eisenhower, shown above talking with President Hannah and ex-counterspy Herbert Filbrick — banquets, programs, displays, programs, and demonstrations rounded out a busy week for the visitors.

The Agricultural Engineering Building, Fairchild Theatre, the Auditorium, Macklin Field Concourse, Kellogg Center and the Union were the centers of activity for the programs. Macklin was closed in and heated for the occasion.

Each day of Farmers' Week highlighted a special interest area, with Monday, Dairy Day; Tuesday, Horse Day; Wednesday, a "Meet the Students" program; Thursday, the general session and meetings day and Friday, Breeding Problems Day.

Lectures and seminars were held in various buildings around campus and displays showing new farming methods and equipment were set up to aid the visitors in planning their work.

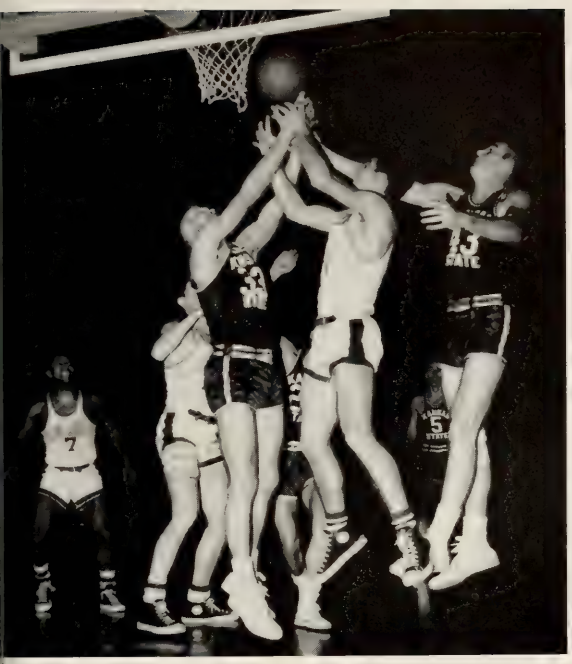
Pucksters Battle to Win

For Coach Amo Bessone's hockey team it was clearly a dismal season, but the Spartan pucksters never failed to give the fans a good game.

Plagued all season by injuries and close defeats, State's icemen outfought and outshot almost every opponent, but they couldn't buy a winning goal.

After a win and a tie for an encouraging start, the tempo for the season was set on a disastrous Western trip during the Christmas holidays which saw the pucksters lose six tough league contests.

Right: Co-Capt. Lord, the Spartans' flashy forward, outfakes Michigan's net-tender on a breakaway to push the puck into the Wolverine net. Defenseman Campanini passed to Lord to get an assist on the play. The goal was in vain as State fell, 10-2 to the Wolverines.



Stackhouse, State's only starter from last year's quintet, fights for a rebound under the Spartan basket in the upset victory over Kansas State.

Cagers Upset Kansas State

Fielding one of the greenest squads in years, few experts dared predict anything but a cellar finish for Coach Pete Newell's basketball squad in pre-season estimates. Forward Keith Stackhouse was the only regular back when the Spartans opened their rough 22-game schedule against Marquette, whom they beat 62-51.

The first tip-off of what kind of a season the Spartans were headed for came when MSC pulled one of the biggest upsets of the cage season in drubbing top-ranked Kansas State, 80-63. A star was found as reserve forward Al Ferrari came off the bench and scored 24 points besides playing a big part in helping State control the backboards. Ferrari, the outstanding player of the classic, soon after broke into the regular lineup to lead the Spartans the rest of the season.

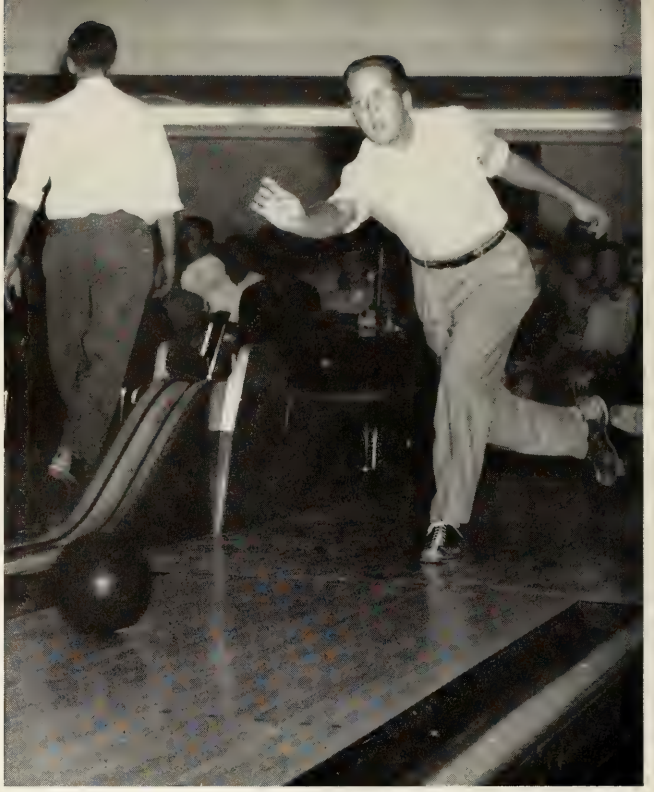
With "Come What May" as the theme, the 1953 J-Hop assumed a modernistic atmosphere through decorations and music, which was provided by Billy May's band. Attendants in shimmering white capes helped coeds from their cars and escorted them to the auditorium door where they received address book favors. Among the guests were Robert Linton, Registrar, his wife and State's coed grandmother who really enjoyed the Hop.

Vocal entertainment was provided by the Quintones and the Statesmen Quartet during intermission both nights. A dance team of Jeff Anderson and Tom Borillo also entertained with a Valentino tango routine.

This year color pictures were available at the J-Hop in addition to the regular black and white pictures. Tickets were sold out for both nights.

Campus regulations were lifted for the benefit of J-Hoppers. Coeds attending the dance had 4 a. m. permission on Friday night and 3 a. m. permission on Saturday night.

J-Hop music was broadcast over national and local hook-ups both nights.



Entertainment in the Union Building is provided by pool and billiards tables, ping-pong facilities, the card room and the basement bowling alleys. Free bowling shoes were purchased for student use this year by the Student Government tax fund.

Students skilled in one of these fields may participate in tournaments sponsored by the Union Board. The Board also offers bridge and dance instruction classes.

Above: The grill, nucleus of activity on the MSC campus. Who hasn't said, "Meet you in the grill after class"?

Right: The Union offers plenty of pastime for in-between class hours or for leisure at the end of the day. There's always somebody to play billiards with, or there's plenty of good reading matter at the Desk. The Spartan is a "must" with MSC students.

Spring may be the best time at Michigan State, but there are plenty of ski enthusiasts who will disagree with you. Excellent ski-runs in Michigan's outdoors provide relaxing weekends for the people who get a thrill out of zooming down a hill. And it's never hard to tell when the ski season is on, when the rash of broken ankles, wrapped in walking casts, appear around campus. But to winter sports fans the snow was a welcome relief, because it wasn't very plentiful around East Lansing during the '52-'53 winter.

Snow, Anyone?

On winter weekends students get ready to load in and start north for another weekend of skiing. "There may be snow on the ground here, but wait until you get up north, you'll wallow in it up there."

Cagers Open Big Ten Slate

The Green and White cagers opened their Big Ten slate by winning three of the first five games, with successes over Northwestern, Ohio State, and Iowa. League champions Indiana and Minnesota whipped the Spartans. It was in this quintet of tussles that the sophomores began to make themselves known. Ferrari netted 22 counters against the Hoosiers, Armstrong dumped in 20 in the Iowa contest, and reserve guard Bob Devenny displayed State's bench strength tallying 12 points to help whip the Hawkeyes.

Michigan State has developed an outstanding television curriculum. Kinescopes of various educational techniques are recorded, as the one above featuring modern methods for housewives. The films, using student actors, are sent to commercial stations for re-broadcasting. Students also operate cameras, design sets and direct the shows to orientate themselves to the functions of the TV studio.

A full curricula in TV is offered in the Department of Television Development, with students learning to do everything from directing shows to building sets. A newcomer to the college scene, television is fast becoming popular as the industry booms all over the nation.

Students in TV courses are taught complete camera techniques, including briefings on how the cameras operate. Television at Michigan State got a boost during late 1952, when the Federal Communications Commission approved construction of a transmitter for the college. It was expected that programs direct from the campus, on an ultra-high frequency channel, would be telecast sometime in 1954. Meanwhile programs were recorded on kinescope, both for use on commercial stations and for later use on the MSC station. Even before permission for the transmitter came through, MSC was rated first in the country in television training.

Following the MSC-Syracuse football game, members of State's fraternities and sororities were invited to an open house by the Kappa Kappa Gammas. This was a unique Greek gathering at State as most fraternities and sororities hold after-game coffee hours for their individual houses. Even though these Spartans helped cheer MSC to a 48-7 victory, their throats were not too hoarse for singing after being refreshed with cider and doughnuts.

On the third floor of the Union, down at the end of the hall is the Art Room, one of the most profitable places on campus to spend an extra hour or two.

Periodically featuring faculty, student and exchange exhibits, the room competes for popularity with the Music Room across the hall.

Both are maintained by the Union staff and exhibits are arranged by the Union Board in cooperation with the Art Department.

Storms battered the dykes of Holland; part of England was awash and thousands lost their lives during the winter storms in Europe. Aid groups were formed and the Red Cross sent money and supplies to alleviate damages estimated into the millions.

Switzerland suffered the worst series of avalanches in ages and whole towns were swept under the white mass.

On the whole, MSC suffered little through a mild winter. Even events such as the Frosty Frolics were cancelled when several weekends went by without snow. None-the-less, these Gilchrist and Wells Hall students found enough snow to build some interesting species of snowmen.

During Mid-February, ROTC cadets were given a chance to gain and lose something at the same time when the annual blood drive got underway—they could give up a pint of blood to gain the heart-warming feeling that maybe they had saved a life. Response to the drive was tremendous, breaking all previous records.

Bass, Michigan State's 125-pound boxer, starts to uncork a left at Penn State's Marino. The pair battled to a draw.

With a completely rebuilt team, Coach George Makris again came up with a formidable Spartan boxing entry that tied for fourth place in the NCAA meet.

Led by 147-pound Herb Odom and 165-pound Tom Hickey, State's boxers piled up five wins against the nation's best while losing only twice. Not much was expected of the Spartans before the season but the mittmen surprised everyone by beating top-rated Minnesota in the scheduled opener. Wins over Penn State and Army followed before Michigan State lost a close return engagement with the Gophers. After the loss to Minnesota, the Spartan boxers bounced back and beat the best in the east, Maryland, in a decisive manner. State closed out its dual meet schedule by dropping the Quantico marines after losing to Wisconsin.

Boxers Continue Winning Ways

Odom and Hickey were both undefeated in seven starts in regular season competition.

Other top MSC entries were: Bill Greenway in the 156-pound division, Al Tsakiris at 178-pounds, Bob Hoffman, State's 139-pounder, heavyweight Wayne Keller, Julian Bass at 132-pounds and Max Jozwiak in the 125-pound class.

The Spartans were strengthened in the NCAA meet by the return of veteran 132-pounder Jimmy Evans who lost in the semi-finals.

Hickey gave MSC its only individual championship in the nationals by belting his way through three bouts for the crown.

During the mid-stages of the season, the Spartans began a running battle with Minnesota over third place in the conference. The squad did well at Jenison Fieldhouse, whipping Northwestern and Minnesota in addition to giving Illinois a rough battle before losing. It was another story on the road, however, as inexperience began to take its toll. Newell's charges lost to Ohio State, Indiana, and Notre Dame. The squad lost guard Wesling after the Illinois game due to a heart disorder, but Jim Schlatter came off the bench to help the team with his long shot marksmanship. At Ann Arbor's Yost Fieldhouse, reserve DeNeal Hartman sunk a field goal with three seconds remaining in the game to edge Michigan 66-64 for one bright mark in the road slate.

"Holiday on Ice" has become an annual affair at Michigan State College. The top-notch ice revue draws capacity crowds into the Demonstration Hall ice arena when it is playing nightly for nearly a week. Falling in late January during Farmers' Week, the show also is attended by some of the thousands of visitors for that affair. The pirouetting and dancing skaters, the comedy acts and the colorful panoramas present a pleasing spectacle for audiences. Brilliant costumes add to the scene which is a far cry from the rough and tumble hockey team which occupies the arena during the rest of winter term. Hockey players mournfully observe that visiting teams don't have players like the ladies in the ice show.

Spartans "ohed" and sighed their way through almost three hours of comedy, ballet, songs and huge production numbers by the troupe whose stars were Paul Andre, Michael Meehan and Rudy Richards. The group included such thrillers in its repertoire as the jump through "sabres," and an exhibition of super-fast skating. Other numbers featured in the show were the "Swan Lake Ballet," "A School for the Blues," and figure skating by the Fresinger Family.

Voting goes fast and furious for the favorite UMOC candidate.

Unshaven

Left: Ambitious sponsors give their all to up the proceeds for their candidate, waving flags, doing stunts and (below) shining shoes for their favorite son.

Every year, a bit of the unusual is brewed at MSC with the UMOC contest. Alpha Phi Omega sponsors this contest and proceeds go to Campus Chest. Each living unit sponsors a candidate, then everything is done by the unit to convince the general public that he is the biggest bum yet.

All the adverse publicity is just for fun though, as the honor of being UMOC wipes out the blot on the reputation. Posters, ribbons, unflattering portraits, and publicity stunts mark the passing of this contest.

Voting takes place for a week in the main concourse of the Union, supervised by members of APO. Friday is the last day of the drive, with frantic people shoveling money into the cannisters before deadline hour.

Chuck Laven, with 60,630 votes each worth one cent, walked off with the UMOC title for Chi Omega, his sponsors.

He was crowned at the UMOC Ball held Friday night of UMOC week. The other four finalists and their standings were John McGinnis, sponsored by Sigma Kappa, 34,243; Ferris Hallmark, Kappa Delta, 28,217; Jack Sabey, Delta Delta Delta, 57,748 and Phil Savage, Alpha Chi Omega, 18,168. A record total of 280,000 votes were cast in the contest, as compared to last year's 168,400. In more significant terms, this year's drive netted $2,800 for Campus Chest.

During the campaign students did anything for money. Rumors circulated that one sorority even gave blood to boost the tally for their candidate, while others settled for trips to dorms and fraternity houses sewing buttons, mending and shining shoes.

"She Stoops to Conquer"

Shakespeare said, "The old order may changeth"—but a good comedy is always appreciated.

This was verified when an enthused audience applauded the cast of Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" back for two curtain calls at the Fairchild Theatre.

Starring in the major romantic leads were Joan Brown, playing the dual role of the "lady" and the "bar-maid", Kate Hardcastle and Lee Hanson, who portrayed the aggressive Marlowe.

The cast of "She Stoops to Conquer" receives unqualified praise from their audience.

Novel Sets Designed

Lending color to the production of "She Stoops to Conquer" were the unusual drop and wing sets created by Zack York of the Speech Department which included four set changes. Period costumes also lent a touch of authenticity to the play.

Well-acted minor roles were vivaciously put over by Gloria Carlson as Constance and Charles Zwemer as Hastings. Frolicking Tony Lumpkin played by Merrill Sproul drew plaudits from the audience and Bet Bouncer, acted by Sharon Robinson, gave the show a great deal of sparkle.

Campus Expansion Continues

A separate dining hall surrounded by six individual living units was among the unique plans for MSC's new men's dorms. By summer, three of the living units and the dining hall were well underway. It was hoped that one of the units would be completed and ready to house 450 men for the fall of '53. The 300-foot long dining room was to serve the men who would eventually live in the dorm units.

Plans called for the outer surface of the dorms to be red brick and the architecture similar to that of Kellogg Center and Shaw Hall. Eventually, a parking service road will surround the buildings, thus providing open space within the groups of buildings for walks and lawns as well as sports areas.

The revamping of several campus buildings has also been accomplished this year. At right is a picture of the remodeled Botany Building that housed the Journalism Building as of November.

Michigan Falls Again

Entering the home stretch, the Spartans put on their longest win skein of the season scoring wins over Purdue twice and Wisconsin to come within one game of second-place Illinois. The Illini ruined MSC's second-place aspirations by dumping State 66-53, but the Spartans dropped the Wolverines again 55-52 in a thrilling home contest with Ferrari hitting 25 points for his best effort of the season.

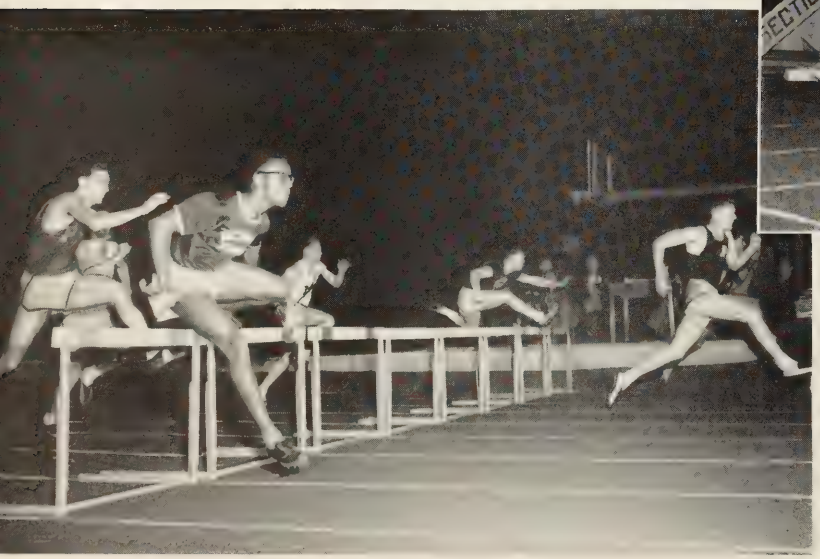
Besides picking up the only double win in the classic, his relay performance helped break the only record of the evening.



Although Kansas State took most of the top honors, Michigan State showed unexpected strength to pick up the most places and win the unofficial MSC Relays team championship. State's distance medley relay team pulled the upset of the meet edging Michigan's favored crew in a thrilling finish. Jim Vrooman's tie for first in the high jump was State's only other top performance.

The importance of extra-curricular activities was stressed winter term at the first annual Leadership Clinic in the Union Ballroom. About 350 campus leaders representing 160 organizations met to discuss club problems.

Dean Clifford Erickson of the Basic College told the group that more participation in activities was needed for a well-rounded education, and subsequent group discussions encouraged cooperation between campus groups.

The Student Government sponsored the clinic and representatives from thirteen interest areas acted as hosts and hostesses.

Term parties and dances heralded the end of battles with mid-term exams in February. Valentine weekend came with cupids and hearts decorating living units all over campus.

Robinson House framed their door with a huge heart for their term party; Delta Tau Delta used red hearts and silver arrows and Sigma Alpha Epsilon placed a large paper heart at one end of the Porter Hotel ballroom.

Concord House observed Friday the 13th with "Come if You Dare," a backwards term party. Sigma Chi, Lambda Chi, Delta Chi, Shaw, Phillips and East Mayo also gave parties.

The third Interdorm Ball and more term parties filled the social calendar the following weekend. Two bands, Keith Bartow's and Dick Lake's, played at the Men's Interdorm dance at Shaw Hall. The first and second floors of Shaw were open for dancing, and buses took couples to and from the dance.

A "blue world" was the setting for the Sigma Kappa dinner dance at the Olds Hotel, and Pi Kappa Phi gave a "French Cabaret" party.

"Play on Wheels," a variety show presented by the Union Board was performed before an overflow crowd in the Union Ballroom March 5. The show was a climax to activities of Union Board Week.

Sixteen acts, including a hula dancer and a ventriloquist, entertained the responsive audience as emcees Bob Harkness and Ray Lane reminisced about show business.

A chorus line opened the show by springing from the audience and dancing up to the stage. The program featured several vocal numbers as well as a wide array of dance routines.

Musical accompaniment for the show was provided by Tom Aquino's band.

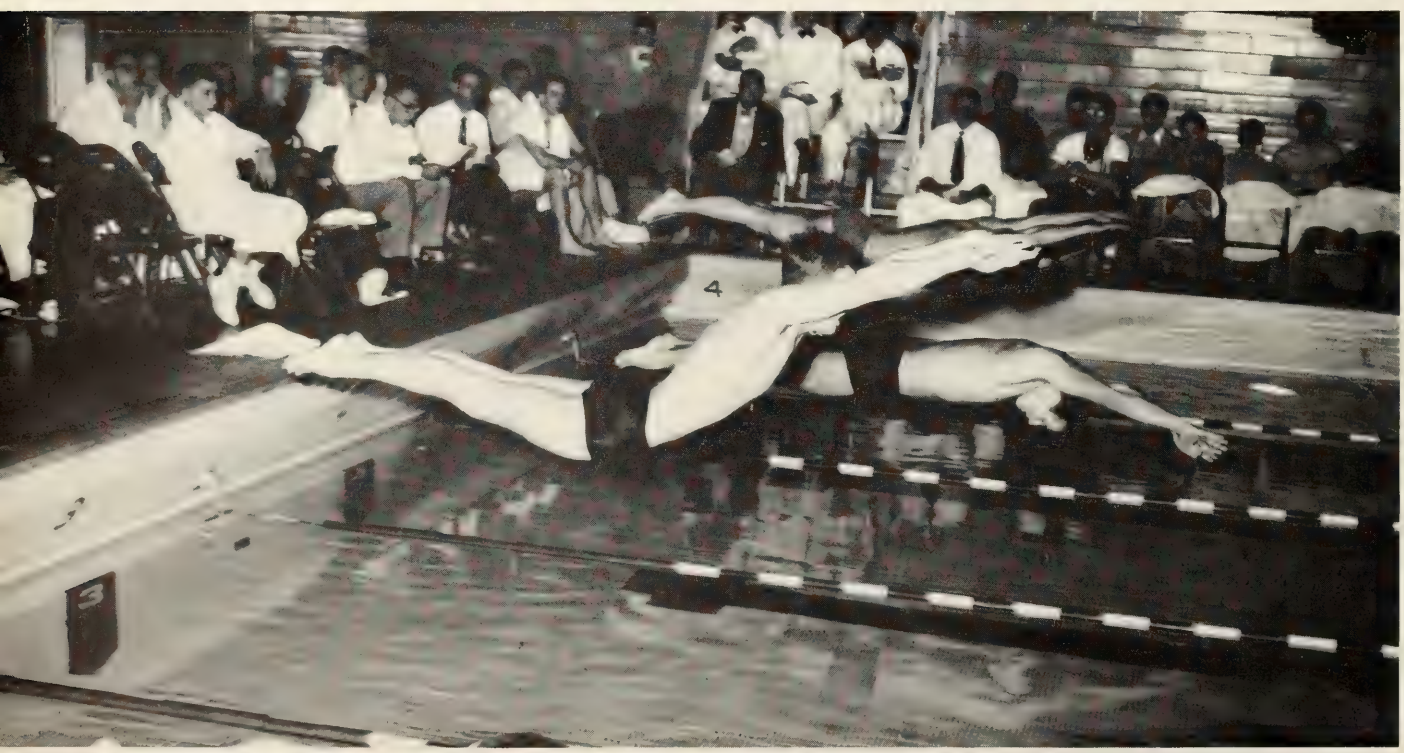
Coach Charles McCaffree's swim team again was one of the best in the nation. Compiling a 7-1 season record, including a 51-39 upset victory over Ohio State, the Spartan swimmers finished third in the Big Ten race. The victory over the Buckeyes snapped Ohio State's streak of 26 straight dual meet victories.

Bert McLachlan, Big Ten 440-yard freestyle champ, was the outstanding performer. Freshman John Dudeck took a surprise first in the 100-yard breaststroke in the conference classic. Outstanding performances of the year included a new varsity mark in the backstroke by McLachlan, a breaststroke record swim by Dudeck and Frank Reynolds' record-breaking splurge in the individual medley.

Swim Team Again One of Nation's Best

MSC's Johnson and Steimle dive to start the individual medley race. They finished second and third respectively to Michigan's star, Jones.



For an overall glance at the 52-53 chapter, the Spartans tied for third with Minnesota with eleven wins and seven losses. The entire record was 13 victories in 22 outings, much better than expected at the season's start. Another feature was Ferrari breaking Bob Brannum's scoring mark with 351 markers in 22 games for a 16.0 average. Keith Stackhouse pumped in 272 points for a two-year total of 508, second only to Bill Rapchak's 691 in the scoring record.

A play and program by the Indian Student Association celebrated the sixth anniversary of Indian independence January 23.

Governor and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams attended the program which pointed out the influence of Western ideas on India. I. G. Chavan, President of the Indian Student Association and Dr. A. L. Bennett of the Political Science Department explained India's progress to a large audience in the Music Auditorium.

Indian Students Celebrate Independence

Mystical Indian music set the mood for the play, Rabindranath Tagore's "Sanyasi." The play was given by Indian and American students and depicted the oriental philosophy of life. It revolved about an ascetic and a young girl.

Below: In the lab at College Hospital, a technician makes essential tests.

Sick students passed by the dozens the nurse's desk at the Health Center during January and February.

Illnesses Spread Despite Mild Winter

Flu marched across the South and Midwest and invaded the campus in mid-February. The college hospital gave free vaccine shots in an effort to stop the epidemic, but it proceeded just the same. During January the hospital had twice as many calls as in any other month, and in the worst days of the epidemic 25 to 30 students were sent back to their living units to recuperate because the hospital was overflowing.

Colds coupled with the flu bug made winter term one of the toughest the Health Center ever had. More than 13,500 people visited the clinic during January and February, and almost 900 Spartans spent one to four days in the hospital.

Basketball, with 1,300 students playing on 30 teams, headed the winter term program. The Dormitory bowling league was second in student participation with 429 keglers entered on 47 teams.

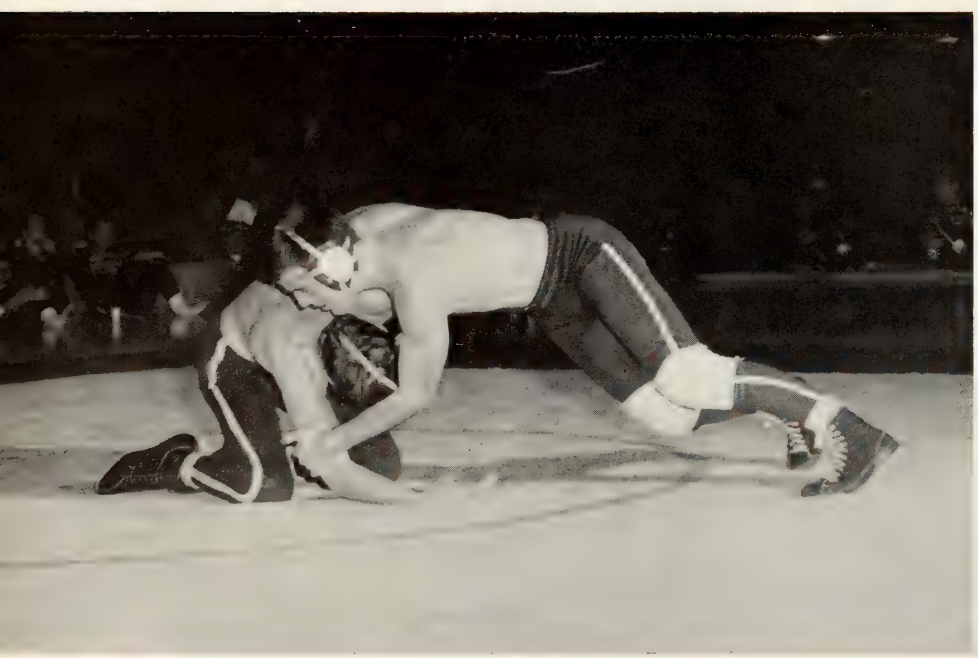
Wrestlers Take Runner-Up Honors in Big Ten

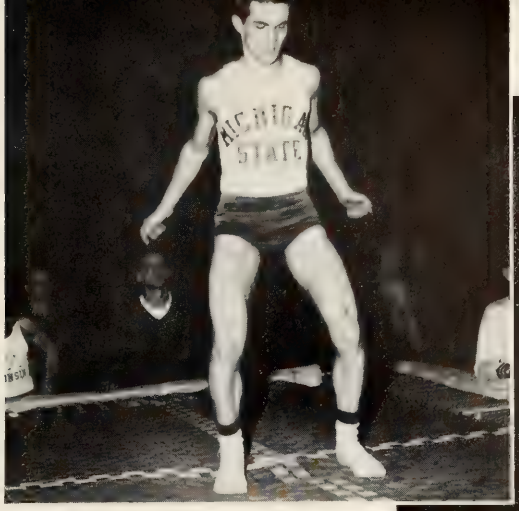


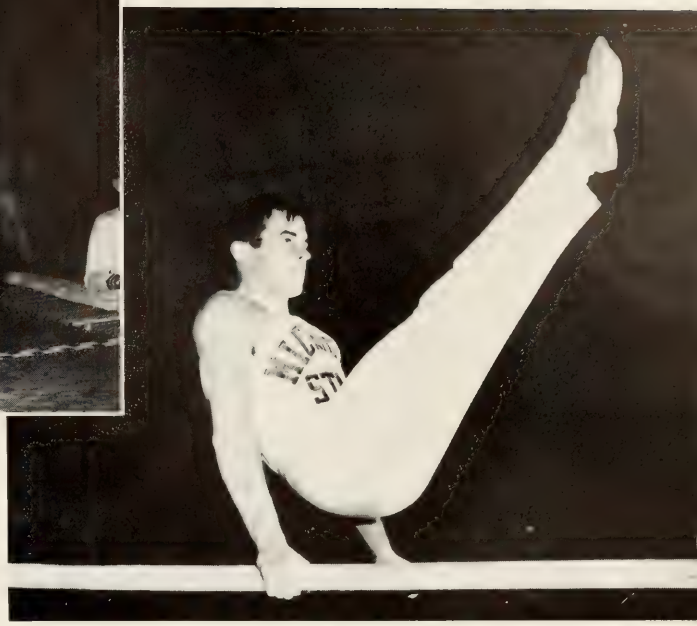
Two individual champions led the way to a second place Big Ten finish for State's wrestlers. Bob Hoke won the 157-pound crown while Vito Perrone grappled his way to the 167-pound title.

Also scoring heavily for State were Larry Fowler, runner-up in the heavyweight class, and Ed Casalicchio and Dick Gunner, with thirds in their divisions.

In the nationals, frosh Jim Sinadinos scored a stunning victory to take the 136-pound crown.

Gunner tries to get the upper hand in a home match with Iowa.





Right: Spartans O'Rourke and Rintz go through their paces in the first Big Ten gymnastic championship meet held on the Spartan campus.

Although Coach George Szypula's gymnasts compiled a meager two-won, six-lost record in regular season play, they rallied behind a brilliant one-man show by Carl Rintz to finish third in the Big Ten meet.

Rintz won three conference titles and placed in three other events for more than half of MSC's point total.

Gymnasts, Fencers Cop Third in Big Ten

The Spartan fencing squad added another Big Ten champ to the Spartan list in Dick Berry, who won the foil event. Breaking even during the dual-meet season with a 5-5 record, Coach Charles Schmitter's fencers placed third in the conference meet.

Dave Chase added a runner-up finish in the epee to the Spartan's point total while Ray Monte took fourth in the sabre.

Berry was State's top epee man all season but switched to the sabre in the Big Ten meet in a surprise move.

The Air Force ROTC program on campus is organized like a regular Air Force wing. The Air Force along with the ROTC Ground Cadets were noted for their annual Blood Drive and during this year's, both groups donated more blood than any other similar group in the country. Spring parades and commissioning ceremonies are traditional phases of cadet work, requiring long hours of drilling and preparation.

Spring . . .

The first day that the sun is warm and the air smells good means spring term for MSC students.

Spring term at MSC is unique. The pace slackens, the ducks on the Red Cedar are waiting to be fed, and the days are much too nice to concentrate on classes. For seniors, spring term means the last term . . . the end of a long pull.

Spring term is hard to talk about—there is just too much going on. There is swimming in Lake Lansing, there are the Fraternity and Sorority sings, concerts in the Bandshell, and baseball games in Old College Field.

Spring term is the culmination of a year's work. It is the time for summing up. Then, sometime during the middle of June, the whole year lumps into one. Books, studying, football, J-Hop, exams, romances merge into an entity.

Another year at MSC is over.

The Block and Bridle Club's horse show in the Stock Pavilion drew a crowd of 4,500 spectators to the two-night show. Among the highlights were a dancing and trick horse, an eight-pony hitch, a champion six-horse hitch and rider of a dressage horse. A contest was held to determine the best cowboy and cowgirl under 12 years of age and Billy Frost and Patricia Hull were the winners.

4,500 Attend Block and Bridle Show

Western and Eastern horse show contests were combined in the Horse Show, with such classes as western pleasure, western horsemanship, and working stock horse; and open equation, five-gaited saddle, open jump, and scurry jump. Setting a precedent in queen contests, the Block and Bridle Club selected as its queen three-year-old Bernadette O'Connor, daughter of MSC students, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Connor.

Women took over the men's duties at the annual Spinster Spin April 5 in the Auditorium. Coeds supplied corsages and transportation, held coats and even helped their pampered dates to drinks at the drinking fountains. Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, and AWS sponsored the spin.

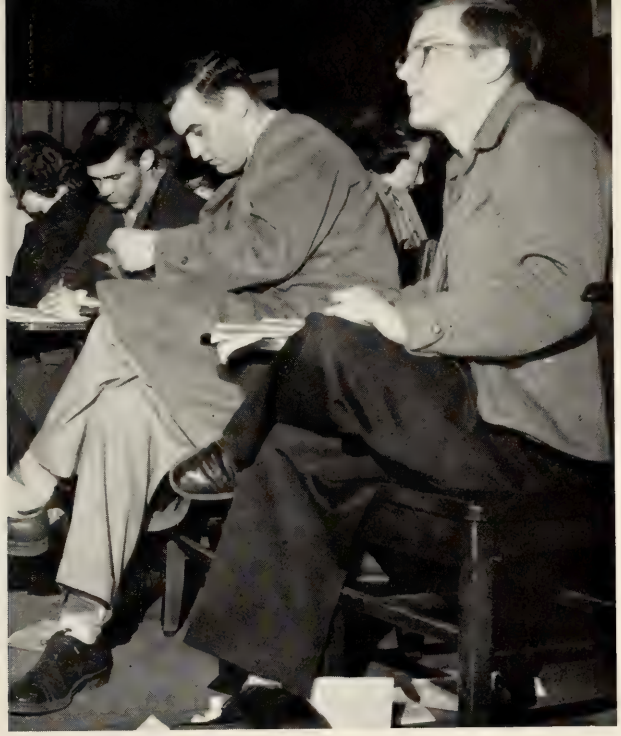
Beaumont Gets New Bells; "The Heiress" Presented

Beaumont Tower got a musical shot in the arm when six new, high-register bells were purchased by alumni to round out the carillon set. Up to the time of the addition, Beaumont had 37 bells but was short on those for higher notes. The six bells measured about seven inches in height. They were shipped to MSC from Holland, where they were cast last year. Only four more were needed to make the set complete.

The same day, a Studio Theater cast gave a performance of "The Heiress." Studio Theater plays were produced throughout the year to give drama students experience and to provide a place for other students interested in dramatics to show their talent. Through work in Studio Theater, students gained points toward the twelve that they needed to be admitted to Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatics honorary.



Each registration brought its particular woes to most students, but spring term it provided a few more than usual, with students trying to get early classes. Hours were spent in the Auditorium with weary registrants juggling classes, exchanging cards and biting pencils to sawdust.

Third-term freshmen found that two terms' experience aided them in running the maze, but new students termed it just this side of madness. Married students who couldn't locate babysitters brought their youngsters along.

Indecision reigned supreme among upperclassmen as they tried to choose between sleeping late in the morning and spending the afternoon at Lake Lansing.

"Line standing" again became a student sport as tellers' windows, basic class booths, checking points and information table collected long lines of students waiting with varying degrees of patience.

Carol Sharp and Betty Jean Robinson practice their roles as midwesterners stranded in New York in the Dionysians' production "How You Gonna Keep 'Em?". The production, entirely produced and acted by students, was highlighted by a modern ballet routine.

Serenade

Voices in the night singing a favorite fraternity song and a candle burning in a window add up to a romantic evening at MSC.

The warm, balmy evenings are traditionally the time for serenades, a custom that provides many memorable moments for coeds and busy evenings for fraternity men. The program may start with a rousing march song on the way to the living unit and end with a romantic ballad sung softly under the coed's window.

Starting his 27th year as head of the Spartan baseball team, Coach John Kob's 1952 edition opened the season on the winning side with an impressive Southern tour.

The Spartans won eight out of 12 contests in their journey through Dixieland and took top honors in the first annual North Carolina tournament, winning four straight.

Kobs took top coaching honors, Quayle compiled the best pitching record, Rivich was named the best defensive player and Risch had the highest batting average to give the State crew a clean sweep of tourney awards.

State's Fortunes Waver in Big Ten Play

After thumping an alumni team, 13-2, State's hitting attack slumped off. In the first home weekend of Big Ten play, the Spartans lost to Ohio State, 4-1 and Illinois, 12-1 before Howard threw a three-hitter in the second half of the Illini twin-bill to give MSC its first conference win.

State's fortunes rallied away from home as the Spartans beat Minnesota, 7-5 and split a twin-bill with Iowa. After losing the first game to the Buckeyes, 4-1, Howard threw his second three-hitter of the season to beat Iowa 1-0 on one Spartan hit.

Dinner Dances, Parties Dot Social Calendar

Dinner dances and term parties provided a bit of social life spring term. At Shaw Hall's term party couples were treated to a steak dinner served in the main dining room and followed by a dance in the lower lounges. Corsages were presented to the girls and dress was semi-formal.

May Morning Sing and May Day Crowning Favored by Good Weather

May Day Crowning services at the Bandshell drew many early-morning spectators. The YWCA, YMCA and Christian Students Association sponsored the services.

The Men's Glee club, directed by David Machtel, presented an outstanding Spring Concert in the Auditorium which featured religious works, love songs and a patriotic group. The concert was the third in a series of annual programs presented by the club.

Band, Men's Glee Club Concerts Attract Large Audiences

Another musical event followed close on the heels of the Glee Club concert as a crowd numbering close to 1,000 gave a warm reception on a chilly evening to the Varsity Band's hour-long concert in the bandshell. Under the direction of Don Jackson, the spring's first open concert provided students with a varied program of spirituals, boleros, marches and opera excerpts.

Warm spring breezes lured many students away from classes to an afternoon loafing underneath shade trees and napping along the banks of the Red Cedar. Sunbathing on the sundecks of dorms whiled away many leisurely hours.

Off campus, however, the state was rocked with news of prison riots, the most serious at Jackson. The Legislature deliberated carefully over the riots, spending countless afternoons and evenings mulling legislation at the capitol in Lansing.

National wage disputes made the headlines; a major steel strike nearly crippled industry; in East Lansing, Grand River was closed off for widening.

Men faced a new ROTC problem: to salute or not to salute? Parades were cancelled due to rain, flood or inspection, giving them more time to spend under the trees or in the grill.

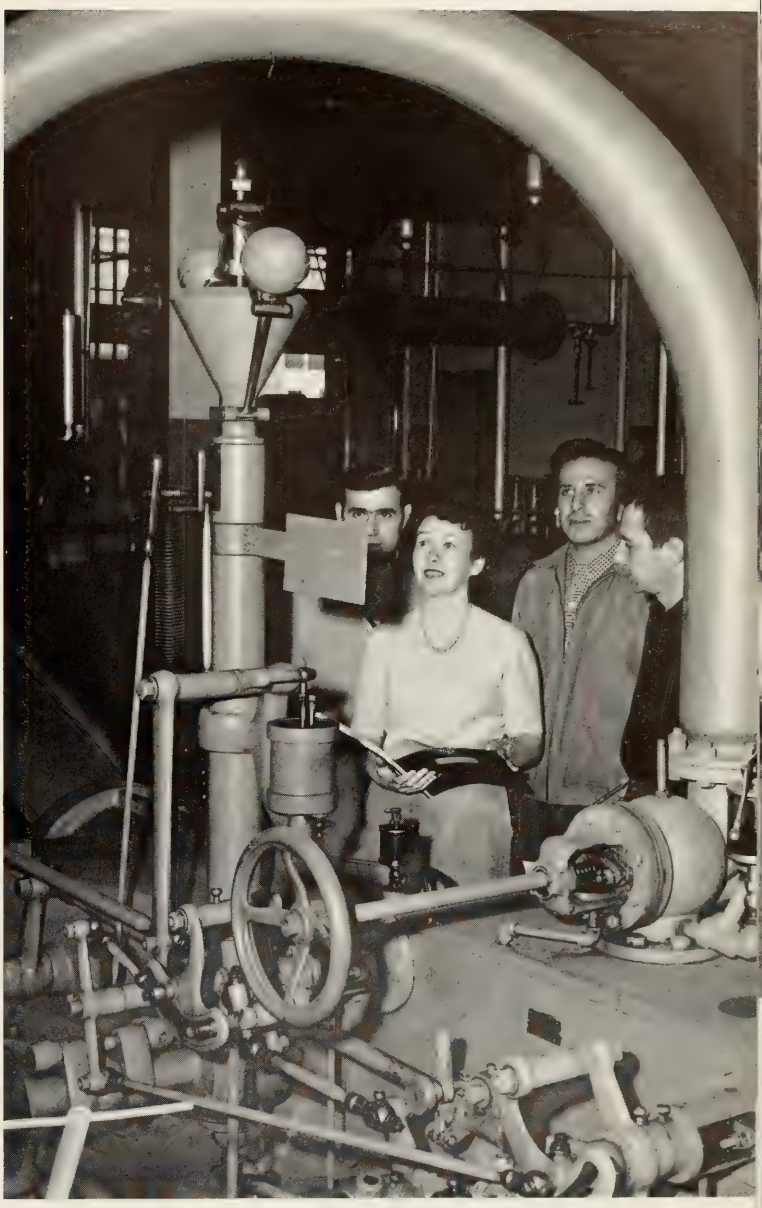
Engineering Exposition

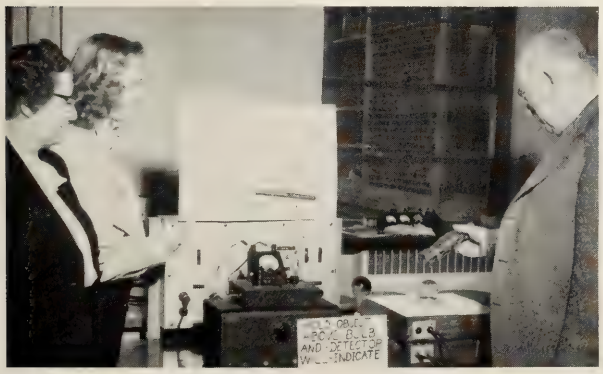
The engineering exposition played an important part in MSC activities while helping some engineers decide on vocational preferences within the field.

For one weekend, the campus overflowed with visitors who were guided through the engineering buildings, chemistry buildings, and the foundries and workshops.

Macklin Stadium provided a setting for models of old automobiles, and Friday noon of Exposition Week, a race was held with several ancient cars driven by deans of the schools.

Lorin G. Miller, Dean of the School of Engineering, won the contest, and as a prize, was able to crown Miss Mary Lee Backhurst Queen of the Exposition.





Water Show

"Swim Out The News", a water show by Green Splash, was presented in the women's gym pool for three nights. The program followed a daily newspaper theme, with acts depicting headlines, women's page, sports, and other newspaper sections.

Senior Swingout

Members of the senior class get ready for Senior Swingout. This year's Swingout, MSC's 42nd, started at Ag Hall. Class officers, council members and the band led the procession to Fairchild Theatre.

The freshman class pulled to victory again in the annual tug-of-war during frosh-soph weekend.

Approximately 2,500 parents and high school students got a glimpse of campus life during the second annual High School Visitation and Parents' Day. For the first time in the college's history, nearly every school, department and division held open house for the visitors.

Parents' Day Visitors Inspect Campus

Registration at Kellogg Center showed that nineteen percent of the parents were from out-of-state, with Chicago parents heading the list of out-of-staters. A Saturday-morning tour gave parents an opportunity to see the campus and witness numerous activities.

Bill Pomeroy, WILS General Manager, presents Lee Hanson with a trophy honoring MSC's outstanding radio student of the year. The award was given at the annual speech majors' banquet at the Kellogg Center. Hanson received the award, one of two presented each year by WILS, for his participation in various radio programs throughout the school year.

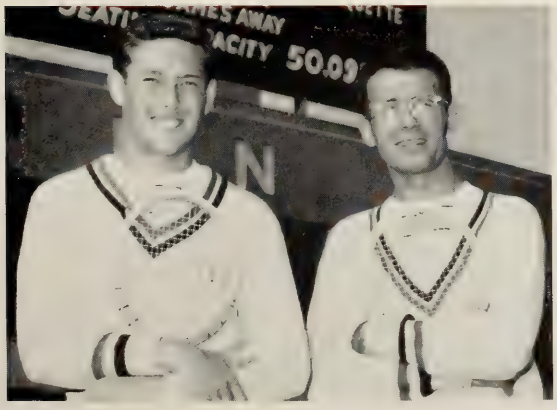
State's Big Ten doubles champs in action against Notre Dame.

Netters Second in Big Ten



Belton and Drobac, Big Ten doubles winners.

Although the Spartan net squad was dethroned of its Big Ten title by Indiana, MSC boasted the top doubles team in the conference in Drobac and Belton.

This duo, besides pacing State to a second place finish in the Big Ten meet, went undefeated in regular season play in both doubles and singles competition and then won the Conference doubles championship. State had another undefeated netter in Capt. Rieger who won seven straight during the season.

State again boasted one of the top teams in the nation and under Coach Beeman won eight games during the regular season, five of them shutouts, while losing only to the Hoosier's powerful crew.

Highlighting spring term politics were the class elections, with multi-colored posters stationed along the way to Berkey and the usual campaign speeches. Candidates waited eagerly around the third floor of the Union for results.

Winners of the junior class race were, right, President, Gene German; Vice-President, Dick Lauver; Secretary, Donine Stark and Treasurer, Bill Graves.

Spring weather prompted instructors to hold field trips to break the long series of classroom lecture periods.

From Field Trips to "Biggest Show" in One Day . . .

Patti Page, Frankie Lane, Illinois Jacquet and Billy May visited the campus with their "Biggest Show of '52". With them on the program were some top-flight comedians and dancers to round out an enjoyable evening.

Friday, May 16, was a red-letter day for East Lansing when Gen. Douglas MacArthur visited Lansing. The Administration, much to students' liking, dismissed classes for the day, and the ROTC Department planned an impressive parade to greet the General. Threats of rain dampened expectations the day before, but little else, as Friday was clear and warm. MSC cadets paraded 3,200 strong before the General. Also in the parade were 17 High School bands.

A round of activity was planned for the General from the moment he landed to the time he departed. A luncheon at Kellogg with the press in full force and a trip to the Olds factory were included in MacArthur's itinerary.

After greetings from President Hannah, the Governor and cheers from the excited spectators, "Mac" commented, "This state is famous for its hospitality and I'm sure it's outdoing itself."

"Mac" Visits Lansing

The senior term play, "Green Grow the Lilacs" brought a bit of the old west to MSC for one evening during spring term. Production gimmicks such as (far right) giving lead Frank Bradley a permanent so he would look more like "Curley" were planned for the show.

As usual, the traditional Lambda Chi Alpha Jr. "500" gave everyone a day of laughs and thrills. Alpha Phi Alpha took first with a record time of 4.05 minutes, followed by Beta Theta Pi. Zeta Beta Tau's entry took first place in the humor division. A chariot with a flower-strewing Nero took second place for Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Junior "500" Race

Thirty entries, seven in the humor division, ran in the fifth annual race witnessed by a record crowd of over 3,000 people. Preceding the race, a parade of fraternity queens in convertibles drove around Circle Drive. The Lambda Chi Cresent Queen reigned over the event.

Pi Beta Phi Grabs Sing Honors

Pi Beta Phi outsang 15 other sororities before an estimated bandshell crowd of 2,500 in the annual Sorority Sing. Winning number was "Holiday for Strings." Gamma Phi Beta members, dressed appropriately in yellow slickers, took second place with "Singing in the Rain." Chi Omega won third place honors, singing, "I Got Rhythm." Kappa Kappa Gamma's "Clap Your Hands" got honorable mention.

The top three sororities were awarded trophies. In addition, Pi Beta Phi was given possession of the traveling trophy for one year.

At the banquet, top social event of the year for publications staffs, major appointments of editors and managers for the following term are announced and awards for work during the year are presented. The Wolverine is also unveiled and engraved copies are distributed to guests.

3,200 in ROTC Program

A battalion of Signal Corps cadets moves off the hockey field and pass Sparty on their way to a weekly parade. MSC had 3,200 students in its Army and Air Force ROTC program, third largest in the country. For their first two years of school, the men, supervised by advanced cadets, spend three and a half hours a week drilling and marching in parades. The optional program for juniors or seniors gives them a reserve commission after the fourth year of ROTC.

Outdoor Track

With only two full days of practice, Michigan State opened the outdoor track season at the Ohio State Relays. Corbelli's first in the low hurdles provided the surprise of the meet. State also placed second in the four-mile relay with Scutt, Walter, Gillis and Kepford running.

Carey, defending shot put champ, paced MSC's performance in the famed Drake Relays by copping his specialty. State's distance medley quartet of Little, Jarrett, Cook and Kepford took runner-up honors.

The Spartans opened dual meet competition against Penn State in impressive fashion by rolling to an easy 91-40 victory. They won 13 out of 15 events. Carey and Roland took two firsts and a second to share scoring honors.

Hervey looks like the probable winner in this 220-yard race with Syracuse but team-mate Roland, right, won the event with ease. Roland also won the 100-yard dash for a twin killing.

State's all-time all-around athlete, Bob Carey, bowed out of the MSC athletic scene in the sport he loved best—track.

Season Starts

Wisconsin fell 84-48 in MSC's home opener. Carey again won the shot put and discus and Roland continued to dominate both sprints. Gillis took both hurdle events.

State finished with a clean season slate by trouncing Syracuse, 100-36. Carey topped his last home appearance by smashing the varsity and field record in the shot put. Roland and Gillis again scored twin-wins. Kepford also continued undefeated in the mile.

Carey's second place heave in the shot helped pace State to a fifth place in the Big Ten meet. Other Spartans who placed were: Roland, fifth in the 100-yard dash; Gillis, fourth in the high hurdles; Corbelli, fifth in the low hurdles; Milbourne, fourth and Smith fifth in the high jump.

Dormitory raids, a fad which hit several major colleges in the country, barely got under-way at MSC.

Spring Term Activities Gain Momentum

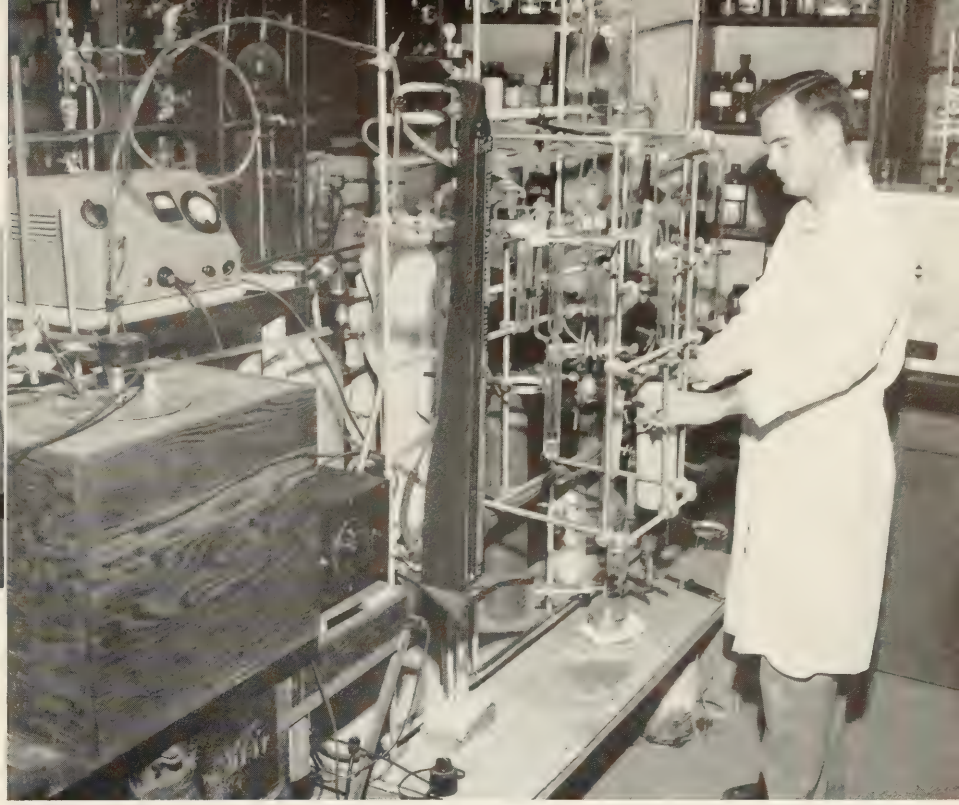
Artistic landscaping provides a scenic setting for the women's dormitories. Front steps of the dorms gained popularity as a meeting place.



Lab Work Offers Challenge

The scientific method had many faithful adherents among students on both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Careful sifting of information and search for new knowledge went on constantly in MSC's labs, with Spartans working diligently to prepare theses and research projects.

Cordiality was the keynote at President Hannah's reception for seniors. The purpose of the reception, held in the Union parlors, was to give seniors an opportunity to say farewell to MSC's First Family.

Following the reception, cordiality was thrown to the winds as eager friends observed another State tradition, the dunking of seniors in the Red Cedar. No casualities were reported from the sport which resulted in all parties getting doused.

Formal or Informal—It's All in Fun

Seniors Join in Annual Swingout

During Senior Swingout, long-anticipated by underclassmen, graduating seniors donned their prized caps and gowns for a procession across campus. Members of the band led the parade and seniors assembled by the building of their School before joining their classmates.

Above: A group of seniors file past Beaumont Tower behind the band. Right: President Hannah congratulates Carl Eicher and Sue Merriman, President and Secretary of the '52 alumni club. They were elected by the seniors in Fairchild Theater after the Swingout.

The hurling staff of the 1952 baseball squad will go into the record books as one of the best in Spartan diamond history. Carrying most of the load were: (top picture) Bob Carlson, Roger Howard, Bob Dangl, Tom Lawson, and Don Quayle. Also effective on the mound for the Spartans was Gus Carlson. Howard was State's top pitcher with a 6-1 record, including three Big Ten decisions, two of which were one-hit shutouts.

Wayne Lawrie takes a long leap for first but is a couple of steps too late as Michigan's first baseman kicks the bag for the put-out. The Spartans, however, went on to pull one of the biggest upsets of the Big Ten baseball season by taking two out of three games from the top-rated Wolverines.

Spartan

Big Bob Ciolek, the Spartan's hard-hitting first baseman, captured the 1952 Michigan State batting crown with a lusty .374 average. Appearing in 17 contests, Ciolek slammed out 20 hits in 55 trips to the plate, including three doubles and one triple. One of the Spartan's best long ball hitters, Ciolek was no newcomer to the batting race. In 1951 he hit .337 to rate runner-up honors.

Coach John Kobs has a reputation for producing at least one outstanding outfielder every year. The 1952 season was no exception with Ray Lane in the lineup. The Spartans crack center fielder led the club in hits with 35 and total bases with 52 while posting a .313 average in Big Ten games.

Lineup . . .

Catcher Dick Edin smashes out a hard single in the fifth inning against Illinois for the Spartans' first safety of the game. The Illini won easily, 12 to 1 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Spartan hurler Bob Dangl pulls up at third base after poking a long triple to aid his own cause in pitching State to an easy 10-3 win over Wayne. First baseman Chuck Mathews, coaching from the third base box, gives him the "stay put" sign.

Taking a day off from Big Ten play, the Spartans lost to Notre Dame, 4-2, as Notre Dame finally snapped a MSC jinx that had beaten them six straight times.

Returning to conference play, State took two out of three tilts from the Wolverines to knock Michigan out of top place in the Big Ten standings.

After losing to Purdue, State took two from Indiana and then fell to Detroit. State lost to Notre Dame 5-4, and finished the season by defeating U of D and Wayne and splitting with Western Michigan.

Playhouse Tryouts

All-college tryouts for a student to appear in an original radio drama, "Temptation," over CBS' network show, The Philip Morris Playhouse, were held at the beginning of spring term. Four students, Gloria Gluski, Sally Hamelin, John La Forge and Lee Hanson, were the MSC finalists and tape recordings of their voices were sent to New York for judging. In June, Hanson was notified that he was chosen for a role in the coast-to-coast broadcast. Wanda Hendrix and several other Hollywood and New York actors were featured in the cast. The show was rehearsed for three days before being aired.

Floats Started

Last major all-college event of spring term, the Water Carnival, solicits much work and interest from the student body. Competition among living units always runs high for the best entry and this year was no exception. At right: The first stages in float production.

Excalibur Tapping

Excalibur's third annual award to the faculty member who contributed the most in the interest of the student body went to Dr. David Dickson of the English Department. The award was made during intermission of the Water Carnival's second night. Also during intermission, ten men were tapped for membership in the honorary. An additional three were tapped at the Christmas Tree Lighting ceremony fall term.

Record Crowd Sees 26th Carnival

The Water Carnival proved a complete success, with excellent weather for all three nights.

Credit for the organization of the Carnival went to Ward Ouradnik, general chairman, and his assistants, who worked for several months planning the event.

The crowd that witnessed the Carnival was the largest in its 26-year history and each night, spectators lined the Red Cedar to watch entries including "Tobacco Road," "Double Indemnity" and "State of the Union."

Winning float, Gilchrist and Phillips Halls' "Go for Broke," was announced at the last performance. Second place went to Pi Beta Phi and Phi Delta Theta.

The three judges check their scores with carnival chairmen.

Over 200 alumni returned to campus for the dedication of the Alumni Chapel early in June. The Chapel is the first building on campus exclusively for religious activities. It has a seating capacity of 200 and is located on the banks of the Red Cedar at the east end of campus.

Alumni Chapel Dedicated

The Chapel, open to students and all visitors, immediately became popular as a site for student weddings, organ recitals and lectures with religious significance. Highlight of the Alumni Day ceremonies was the dedication speech by President Hannah.

The Chapel, honoring the nearly 450 MSC students and alumni killed in all American wars, was financed by funds from alumni. One of the features of the $200,000 structure is the use of stones from 31 bombed European cathedrals, including St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey.

The stained glass windows depict scenes from the history of civilization, of the college and the aims of higher education.

No regular services were scheduled by the college. Space was set aside in the building for ministers to counsel students.

Commencement Exercises

Three distinguished Americans representing industry, agriculture and letters were presented honorary doctorate degrees at spring term commencement. A total of 3,172 students also received the precious sheepskin before showers drove the commencement party from Macklin Field to find drier quarters.

Paul Hoffman, former Ford Foundation head, spoke at the graduation, and the MSC band added to the colorful event.

Approximately 20,000 guests attended the exercises.

Familiar Spring Scenes

Walking from north campus to south across the bridge by the Women's Gym at sunset, one meets the inspiring view of "Sparty," MSC's hero and the largest free-standing ceramic in the world.

In fair weather or foul, through sleet, rain and thunderstorms, Sparty guards the campus. Often mistreated by vandals from other schools who paint him blue and gold, Sparty weathers all nicely and continues to gaze toward the women's dorms.

After a winning 8-4 spring tour, the Spartan baseball team split its season schedule and grabbed a fifth place berth in the Big Ten. Playing under the Spartan banner were: First Row—Moser, Carlson, Lawson, Captain Bill Bower, Ciolek, Ghise, Lane, Rivich. Second Row—Manager Tom Barrett, Dilday, Risch, Dangl, Carlson, Lawrie, Edin. Third Row—Asst. Coach Dick Massuch, Mathews, Zeitler, Quayle, Howard and Coach John Kobs.

With only two lettermen back, Coach Ben VanAlstyne's golf squad finished last in the conference after breaking even during regular season play. Representing Michigan State were: Hill, Albright, Ware, Captain Zinn, Davenport and Mosack.

Undefeated in three dual meets during regular season competition, the Spartan thinclads finished fifth in the annual Big Ten championship meet. Team members included: First Row—Vargha, Barley, Garbe, Cook, Barr, Payette, Lincoln, Dosky, Schiesswohl, Corbelli. Second Row—Gillis, Summers, Walter, McKay, Hervey, Roland, Carey, Jones, Harwick, Kepford, Smith, Zerbe, Little, Benjamin. Third Row—Coach Karl Schlademan, McFetters, Vrooman, Milbourne, Scutt, Dust, Blabolil, Jarrett, Brendel, Coykendall, Mollison, Schroeder, Trainer John Heppinstall and Asst. Coach Francis Dittrich.

Runners-up to Indiana in the Big Ten championship playoffs, the Spartan net team lost only to the Hoosiers in regular season play. Coached by John Friedrich, team members were: First Row—Roberts, Capt. Dick Rieger, Kimble and Pore. Second Row—Manager Sid Samrick, Sahratian, Curley, Belton, Drobac and Friedrich.

ALL-COLLEGE

BOB BOLO, Student Government President.

Organization of the All-College Student Government follows the federal system and is divided into three branches—executive, judicial and legislative—with each of the three balancing the others. The campus governing body receives its authority from the State Board of Agriculture and the students themselves, who approved its last constitutional revision in an all-college vote in the spring of 1951.

Purpose of the group is to provide for student representation in matters pertaining to student affairs, to promote the general welfare of the student body and to assist in co-ordinating the various student organizations.

The Executive branch is composed of the President, his Cabinet and an Executive Board. The President is elected every spring term by members of Congress and has the authority to make appointments to his Cabinet and the Judiciary with approval of the Congress.

EXECUTIVE

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

LEGISLATIVE

First Row—Ziehm, Hlavac, Webster, Pillis, Theuerkauf, Lewis, Fountain, Widdis, McDonald, Maguire, Maguet. Second Row—Cheney, Martinez, Carr, Wagner, Holland, VanZandt, Heitsch, Monaghan, Hurst, Mitchell, Days, Gerth, Warren, Hurst, Weeks, Blasko, Bruce. Third Row—Jennings, McLeese, Giddings, Harmon, Rabauc, Chase, Brown, Potchen, McDougal, John Davis, Hosie, Steele, Jerry Davis, Rider, Miller, Ehlers.

Responsibility for student legislation is vested in the Student Congress which is made up of representatives elected from dormitories, fraternities, sororities, co-ops, married housing, Lansing, and East Lansing.

The Student Congress has the responsibility, under the constitution of the Student Government, to ratify or revoke the constitution of any student organization on campus, to establish minimum academic eligibility requirements for extra-curricular activities, and to establish the procedures for electing class officers.

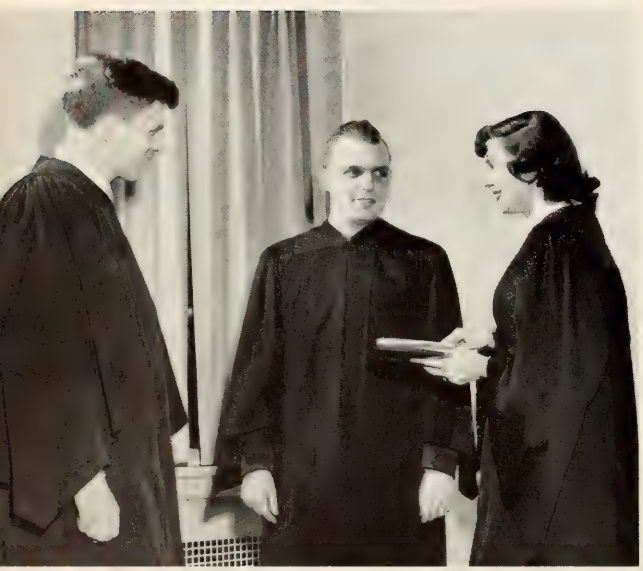
The Congress also regulates All-College student elections and authorizes all expenditures of Student Government money. The Student Government obtains its money from a student tax, which may not exceed twenty-five cents per term.

Horatio Lewis, Carole Rafferty and Harry Theuerkauf review the agenda for an up-coming Student Government meeting.

ALL-COLLEGE

JUDICIARY

Reviewing a case before the Judiciary Board are Mrs. Lurline Lee, Bruce Kurtz, Robert Duryea, Dan Mitchell, Rosalie Nash and Mr. Robb Gardiner.



Bob Duryea, Dan Mitchell and Rosalie Nash review Judiciary precedent before a new case is opened.

The Judiciary branch of the Student Government consists of two faculty members, a student from Men's Council and a student from A.W.S. Three other members are appointed by the Student Government President for a twelve-month period with the approval of the Student Congress. Each of the three justices appointed by the Student Government President is chief justice during his third term of office.

The Judiciary can take action regarding any legislation passed by the Student Congress or the executive branch of the government. The Judiciary may also rule on the constitutionality of actions taken by campus organizations and on cases involving the infraction of student government rules. A decision on one of these cases is binding on the parties concerned.

Most of the disciplinary cases which came before the Judiciary this year concerned infractions of party rules and traffic violations. A student charged before the Judiciary is entitled to a closed hearing and may bring witnesses.

This year's members were Robb Gardiner and Mrs. Lurline Lee, representing the Dean of Students' Office; Robert Duryea, Daniel Mitchell, Rosalie Nash, Robert Forman and Bruce Kurtz.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Campus Chest is a non-profit organization originated in 1949 by the Student Government to consolidate campus solicitations for charity into one campaign. President of Student Government appoints the chairman.

Plans for Campus Chest in 1953 included a Campus Chest Week spring term, initiated by a Kickoff Banquet for all Campus Chest workers and solicitations. A jazz concert and dance the last day of the drive and a Faculty Auction netted funds. The annual Spartacade, a student carnival in Jenison Fieldhouse, earned money for charity. Another source of income was the Ugliest Man on Campus contest sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

Agencies receiving funds from Campus Chest this year were: American Cancer Society, 15%; Community Chest, 10%; Infantile Paralysis Fund, 15%; National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students, 20%; MSC Campus Chest Student Loan Fund, 5%; Spartan Nursery, 10%; and the World Student Service Fund, 25%.

Head of Campus Chest this year was Paul Botts. Members of the Board of Directors were: Ellwood Voller, faculty advisor; Donald Harmer, publicity; Janet Weinheimer, administration; Kay Hill, staging and planning; Virginia Carter, solicitations and Carol Nesman, allocations.

Paul Botts, Dorothy Ripper, Don Harmer, Kay Hill and Jan Weinheimer check a list of volunteers for Campus Chest solicitations.

AWS ACTIVITIES

Anne Vincent, Olga Torsky, Louise Ladner, Jeanne Bachelder, Mary Vincent and Nancy Mack contemplate revisions in AWS regulations for the coming year.

Representatives from each women's living unit and several women's organizations including Mortar Board, Tower Guard, YWCA and SWL comprise the membership of the AWS Activities Board.

Every Tuesday the representatives meet to discuss controversial points brought up in the various house meetings and to make decisions concerning late permissions for coeds.

Among the projects promoted by the Activities Board are STUN, a system which aids students in buying and selling used books, and the Big Sister committee, whose members assign a "Big Sister" for incoming freshmen women each fall.

The Activities Board also sponsors the Lantern-Night ceremony at the end of May in which graduating women march from the Union to the President's house in caps and gowns. The president's wife then presents each girl with a carnation.

All-college elections for AWS are also sponsored by the Activities Board. This year's officers were: President, Olga Torsky; Vice-President, Louise Ladner and Secretary, Nancy Mack.

Representatives to the AWS Judiciary-Legislative Board are elected by coeds from each residence hall. One representative is chosen from each dormitory and cooperative house, two from off-campus houses and three from sororities.

Their duties are to supervise elections and conduct house meetings in the absence of regular officers.

Meetings of the Judiciary Board are held weekly except when the Judiciary and Activities boards hold joint meetings.

A main function of the Judiciary branch of AWS is to handle disciplinary cases involving infractions of AWS regulations.

Projects of the Activities Board such as STUN and the May Morning Sing are also promoted by the Judiciary Board.

In previous years, the AWS Handbook was revised annually by the group. The handbook, which contained house rules, MSC's traditions and songs and the AWS constitution, served to provide the women with information pertinent to MSC life.

Officers of the board for 1952-1953 were: President, Jeanne Bachelder; Vice-President, Rosalie Nash; Secretary, Mary Vincent, and Treasurer, Ann Vincent.

Diane Capen and Rosemary Ruck cast their ballots for AWS president before election committee members Nancy Mack and Mary Kaye Hueni.

MEN'S COUNCIL

First Row—Hartmann, Maisano, Walker, Shannon, Sprague, Kurtz, German, Scott. Second Row—Cary, Warner, Franzman, Kropschot, Reid, Hanson, Olsen, Duryea, Stewart, Davison.

Men's Council was founded in 1936 to co-ordinate the activities of all men's organizations on campus, to voice the problems concerning men to the Administration and Student Congress, and to accept any responsibilities delegated to the group by Congress.

The council is composed of one representative from each of the men's residence halls. Agriculture Council, Alpha Phi Omega, Blue Key, Excalibur, Green Helmet, Engineering Council, Interfraternity Council, Kappa Alpha Mu, YMCA, Jr. AVMA, ICC, Men's Glee Club and the Varsity Club are also represented on the council.

In co-operation with AWS, the council sponsors the annual Activities Carnival in Macklin Stadium each fall term to acquaint new students with various campus organizations. Also with AWS, the group sponsors "Stun," or Student Textbooks, Used and New. The project makes used books available to students.

Bill Shannon points out benefits in the new activity card project to Bob Scott and Jim Sprague.

One of the major programs of the Men's Council this year was the organization of an activities card system. Under the plan, each student would be given an IBM card listing a breakdown of all interest areas on campus such as dramatics, sports, governing groups and publications. The cards, after being machine-sorted, would be made available to campus organizations for their membership drives or other projects.

Another of the council's services this year was taking a group of students from the Michigan School for the Blind to a basketball game. The group also planned a Winter Carnival weekend in conjunction with J-Hop weekend but lack of snow made it necessary for the event to be cancelled.

Advisor is Robb Gardiner of the Men's Division, Dean of Students Office.

Bill Shannon, Morton Alger, William Reid and Gene German evaluate the STUN project which Men's Council is expanding in conjunction with AWS.

UNION BOARD

The Union Board of Directors is responsible for co-ordinating and supervising all board activities.

Aiding the personnel committee in its selection of new members is also part of the Board of Directors' job. They help the committee sponsor rush smokers which are usually held each winter term. In addition, they handle petitions for space in the Union showcases, advertising in the Union concourse and any publicity stunts to take place in the building.

Union Board is a service organization of 90 members which strives to meet the needs of both the students and the Union management.

Members work on seven committees, the largest being the social committee which plans record dances and student-faculty coffee hours.

"Union Shorts," a weekly publication, is put out by the publication committee. The tournament committee sponsors bridge, bowling, billiard and ping pong tourneys.

The music committee presents various programs in the Music Room on the third floor. Showing movies of the away football games, providing bridge lessons, dance instructions and community sings are projects of the special events group.

Publicity for all the Board's events is handled by the publicity committee. This year the entire group combined efforts to present a "Union Week."

AGRICULTURE COUNCIL

First Row — Scott, Nickelsen, Williamson, Olrich. Second Row— Shepherd, Fedewa, Labadie, Brown, Elenbaas, Hartmann, Falasky. Third Row— Webb, Waldo, Leipprandt, Haugard, Paine.

Getting publicity underway for the annual Harvest Ball is the problem Don Dunbar, John Nickelsen, Dick Hartmann and Tom Williamson seem to be solving.

Agriculture Council ranks among the most active organizations on campus. Purpose of the group is to help co-ordinate and assist all agricultural clubs on the campus and to further an interest in agriculture. One representative from each club and one from each of the four classes make up its membership.

Members sponsored the Harvest Ball, complete with a queen, fall term. They also held "Agricade" for all freshmen where exhibits from ag clubs were on display. Memorable social events winter term were the President's Dinner and the Agricultural Achievement Banquet which was held to honor outstanding students. An Ox Roast and Field Day was held at the Stock Pavilion spring term.

Officers were: Tom Williamson, President; Bob Soos, Treasurer; Marie Scott, Secretary and John Nickelsen, Publicity Chairman.

The beginning of fall term is not too soon for Jerry Lampe, Joe Myers, Charles Partlow, Bob Munn and George Pence to start plans for the Engineering Exposition during the first week of May.

The need for an organization to direct and coordinate their activities prompted MSC engineers to form the Engineering Council in 1945.

Two members from professional and interest societies and the Spartan Engineer are seated as well as one from each of the engineering honoraries. A new resolution adopted winter term allows second-term sophomores to become members of the council. Previously, the men had to be juniors.

Professor James Anderson of the Mechanical Engineering Department replaced Professor H. P. Skamser as advisor of the council this year.

The first annual Holiday Ball, an all-college semi-formal dance, was held this year in place of the Engineers' Ball. The Engineering Exposition which is held every spring term brings representatives and exhibits from all major engineering industries.

Robert Munn was President of this year's council, with Jerome Lampe as Vice-President; George Pence, Secretary and Philip Wright, Treasurer.

WILLIAM McILRATH,
Director of Publications.

The Board of Publications was instituted by the administration to direct student publications. Meetings are held monthly and pertinent problems of the publications are discussed. One of the main functions of the group is to appoint student managers and editors.

Its liaison with Publications Row located on the third floor of the Union is William McIlrath, Secretary of the Board. A. A. Applegate, head of the Journalism Department, is President. Other permanent members are James Denison, Administrative Assistant to the President; Phillip May, Comptroller and Tom King, Dean of Students. Student members this year were Dick Meyer, Wolverine Editor; Charles Dinges, Spartan Editor and Dean Wakefield, State News Manager.

Jurisdiction of the board covers the Wolverine, Spartan, State News, Spartan Engineer, MSC Veterinarian and other publications put out by student groups.

Editor Bob Kitchen reviews approaching deadlines with staff members John Loerch, Lee Mah, Phil Sanford, Jack Harper and John Thoma.

The Spartan Engineer completed its sixth year of publication this year. Originally established as the official publication of the School of Engineering, it now incorporates the schools of Geology and Physics which are closely related to Engineering.

With a standard 56 pages to an issue, the quarterly has attempted to furnish the engineer and other interested students with up-to-date articles on progress in engineering. Articles were written by students, faculty and men and women well-situated in the field.

One of the magazine's highlights is the "Dean's Page." In the special feature, Lorin G. Miller, the Dean of the School of Engineering, gives students an insight into engineering careers.

Twelve members with Robert Kitchen as editor made up the year's staff. Business Manager was J. A. Gusack.

DEAN WAKEFIELD, Manager.

Classes may have been cut, term papers turned in late, tests ignored and dates broken—but the State News continued to roll off the presses every week-day morning during the regular school year as one of the nation's top college papers.

While the rest of the campus was still, the night staffs of the paper worked until the wee hours of the morning to give its campus readers the latest and most complete local, national and world news possible.

Besides grabbing top honors annually as an "All-American" college daily, in Associated Collegiate Press ratings, the State News also had the largest circulation of any Michigan college publication with an estimated readership of 18,000.

The paper is located in a five-room suite of offices in the Union's third floor "Publications Row."

Sports Editor Stan Kurzman, Jack Kole and Keith Miller speculate on page layout.

The State News is written and edited entirely by students.

With an editorial staff of almost 100 students, the paper's reporters cover local news sources around-the-clock. Pictorial coverage of campus events ranks high among collegiate dailies throughout the country.

The Associated Press wire and photo service gives the paper prompt on-the-spot coverage almost as fast as news events happen.

From a bi-weekly tabloid called the Holcad, the State News has grown to its present size where it requires an operating budget of $75,000 a year.

The staff not only writes and edits copy, solicits ads, and lays out the pages but even has its own IM athletic team, the Lushwell Athletic Club.

The five night staffs are headed by five night editors. State News staffers, besides covering their beats daily, work from afternoon until late at night writing headlines, editing copy and reading proofs.

First Row—Muhlitner, Hofheins, Hollis, Noonan, Ufferman. Second Row—Risman, Michielsen, Kennedy, Louden, Oliver, Kintigh.

ADVERTISING

Just as important as the editorial staff of the State News are the advertising, promotions and circulation departments.

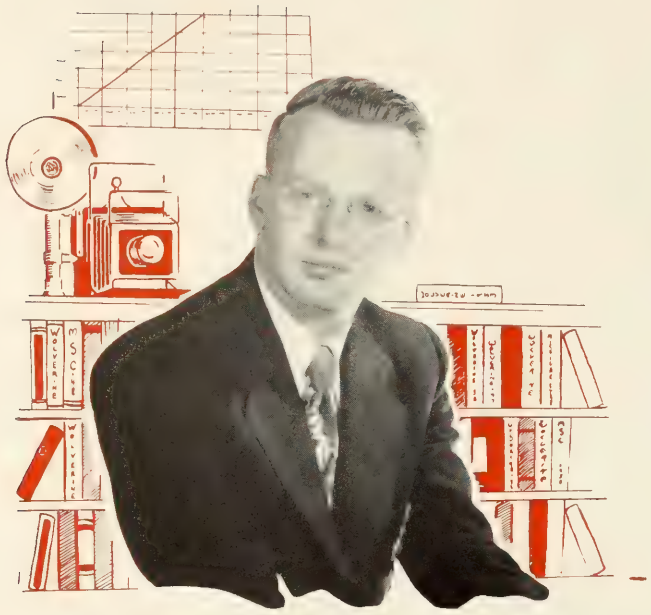
As the paper's reporters work day and night getting copy for the news columns, the ad staff, numbering about 50 Spartans, solicits ads from Lansing and East Lansing merchants.

Selling is just half the job. The staff also has to layout the ads and check them for errors.

The circulation staff of the State News wakes up when the night staffs go to bed to deliver the State News to sororities, fraternities, co-ops, dorms and other distribution centers.

The paper is mailed to thousands of subscribers, mostly alumni, scattered all over the world. Copies are also exchanged with most of the other leading college dailies.

Jean Davis, State News Girl Friday, hunts through the mat file while Bob Garrison and Shirley Amrhein check ads for the next day's issue.



DICK MEYER, Editor.

Fall term the editorial staff of the Wolverine kept a slow and steady schedule, writing copy, taking pictures and spending a few hours in the office each day. Winter term the picture changed to show a crew of haggard, deadline-ridden individuals taking late permissions, spending meal and grill hours in front of an unresponsive typewriter or squinting through developing fluid in the darkroom.

Missing organization copy and idents were some of the things which gave editors nightmares during the dark hours. But finally the copy was turned in and the pictures were shipped to the engraver.

Spring term, the graduating members of the staff were able to spend some time making up for lost study hours and relaxing, while those who were to continue on next year's staff took a deep breath before digging into plans for the new book.

BUSINESS STAFF

This year's sales staff hit an all-time high in both advertising and book sales after nine months of sales stunts, posters, busywork over IBM cards and lists, and countless hours of office work.

Extensive drives in women's and men's dorms brought in hundreds of sales. Total sales reached the 4,250 mark, the highest since publication of the Wolverine began in 1909.

Advertising records were also broken, with the small but enterprising staff contacting a major portion of the businessmen in the East Lansing and Lansing areas.

Cardex files and other new systems helped make office and sales work more efficient during the year.

Business staff members Dick Goebel, Lois Arnold and Lee Cummiskey check the cardex file of Wolverine salesmen with Sales Manager Will Sterzik.

CHARLES DINGES, Editor.

The Spartan, campus humor magazine, has spent 17 hectic years on, off, and about the campus. It has had many ups and downs during its rather lengthy (for the average college humor magazine) and ludicrous existence. It has been described with innumerable adjectives ranging from wondrous to nauseous. Nevertheless, it has gradually become part of campus life as the students have taken it to their heads, homes, and hearts—at least there are a number of steady subscribers who can attest to this fact, like the editor's mother, a Union janitor named Sam, and an Irish setter belonging to one of the local fraternities.

The current Spartan is being published under (or behind, as the case may be) the theory that students want "honest" humor, jokes, pictures, and good reading.

At this point, one thing can positively be said: Michigan State College is proud of its humor magazine. Well, anyway, the part of Michigan State College that makes up the Spartan staff is proud of the Spartan.

VETERINARIAN

To publish scientific knowledge and reports from field cases and original scientific investigations is the purpose of the college veterinary journal.

People throughout the world as well as veterinarian students on campus make up its subscribers. It has a circulation of 14,000 and is published once a term. The journal contains scientific articles in chemical and biological abstracts, case reports and condensed articles from scientific magazines.

Editor for the past year was Simon Kalish. Irving Burness handled faculty news; J. DeWitt Owen, clinical notes; John Larson, abstracts and reviews; Robert Newlin, student news and Kenneth Soncrainte, case reports. John Stetson was advertising manager; J. Robert Miller, circulation manager and Harold Duchan, business manager.

Dr. C. F. Carry has been faculty advisor for the Veterinarian since its start in the fall of 1940.

Major posts may be taken only by juniors or seniors in veterinary medicine, but students in any class may contribute material to the journal.

Editor Simon Kalish explains copy revisions for the next quarterly issue to Kenneth Soncrainte, Dick Hansen, Irving Burness, Harold Duchan and Bob Miller.

PUBLICATIONS PHOTOGRAPHERS

The majority of pictures which appear in campus publications such as the State News, Wolverine and Spartan are taken by the 20 student photographers who have access to the student darkroom. They own their own cameras but are permitted to use the darkroom which is located on Publications Row.

The darkroom is equipped with all supplies needed to enlarge, develop and print top-notch pictures. Individual publications pay for any pictures they use and new equipment is bought from the receipts. Bill Mitcham was this year's student manager in charge of the darkroom and its equipment.

One of the main additions to the darkroom this year was a strobe-lighting unit which enables photographers to catch the action of objects moving at a high rate of speed. The unit was purchased fall term by the Wolverine.

Bill Mitcham explains a pose to Dee Means for a photo to be sent to the Miss Big Ten contest.

Chuck Pardon and Bob Brandon use the darkroom equipment to process pictures for the yearbook.

The 13 members are chosen on the basis of extra-curricular activities outstanding leadership, scholarship, character and service to the college. Last year ten juniors were tapped at the Water Carnival and three seniors were tapped at the Christmas Tree lighting ceremony by the Union Building.

Basic purpose of the organization is to bring together student leaders from every major phase of campus activities.

They "Meet and Eat" every Wednesday noon during the year to discuss current campus problems. President of the '52-'53 group was Dick Meyer while Starr Keesler, Director of Alumni Relations and Earl K. Brigham of Information Services served as faculty advisors.

Activities of Mortar Board include their group project, sponsoring the invitation of Foreign students to dinner by Greek organizations and Cooperative houses; planning marriage lectures; Lantern Night; the Spinster Spin; May Morning Sing and Tapping when new members are honored; a Freshman Mixer and providing hostesses at Foreign Student Teas.

GREEN HELMET

Green Helmet, founded in 1938 by a former Dean of Men, Dr. Fred T. Mitchell, is the sophomore men's honorary. Each spring term, 35 freshman men are tapped on the basis of scholarship, leadership ability and potentiality. A 3.2 all-college average is another prerequisite for membership.

The honorary was founded to give service to the college and to students. Each term at registration, members of Green Helmet aid confused students. The men also offer their services as tutors to any undergraduate requesting them. Last spring term, as part of the Campus Chest drive for charity funds, Green Helmet sponsored its annual faculty auction at which famous campus personalities were "sold" to individuals and living units. This project raised over $200.

At the annual Activities Carnival fall term, Green Helmet sponsored a booth explaining its aims and purposes to the students of the college. The group also sends a representative to Men's Council. One of the biggest undertakings for Green Helmet this year was preparing a new constitution.

Officers of Green Helmet were President, Tom Vice; Vice-President, Harold Tukey; Secretary, Richard Allen and Treasurer, Kenneth Stout. R. W. Starring and Douglas Dunham were the group's faculty advisors.

Requirements for membership in Blue Key are a grade-point average equal to that of the all-college average for men and participation and leadership in extra-curricular activities. The purpose of the organization is to give recognition to members and service to the college.

Leading the list of group projects is its High School Co-operation Committee, Freshman handbook which is a co-operative project with AWS and the Library Committee, which is trying to find a system that will facilitate handling of books at the Library. The Chapel committee works with other organizations to keep the Chapel open evenings.

Thus, the activity of Alpha Epsilon Rho supplements classroom work and gives members advantages which will be of use in their vocational field. Honors are given to outstanding students of radio and television. A yearly convention of all the chapters of Alpha Epsilon Rho is held in Columbus, Ohio.

Alpha Phi Omega, better known on the Michigan State campus as APO, is a national service honorary which serves the school in many ways. It sponsors the annual blood drive and the hospital program in which the members go through the hospital daily to give and take messages, buy cigarettes and do various errands for the patients. AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF E. ENG'RS

To provide an organization for persons interested in radio and electrical engineering and to advance the professional welfare of its members are the two main purposes of the American Institute of Electrical and Radio Engineers.

In spring the group has its annual picnic for everyone in the engineering department. Another event for the entire department, students, faculty, and guests is the "Electrical Engineering Family Night," at which speeches and various skits are presented.

The meetings of the Institute are open to anyone interested in attending. At these monthly meetings the group hears engineers in electrical or communications fields who speak on various technical subjects.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council coordinates the activities of more than 1200 fraternity men on campus.

The council is comprised of two members from each fraternity with rush chairmen and presidents acting in advisory capacities. Most of the group's regulations are concerned with rushing practices. In an effort to aid rush chairmen, a two-day clinic was conducted this year at which problems were discussed.

The council is divided into various committees. One of the committees has been working with fraternities of Big Ten schools on discrimination problems. The publications committee is responsible for the production of rushing manuals which are distributed at the all-college rush smoker fall term. A special events committee plans fraternity and sorority exchange dinners, a new committee was created this year to study the petitions of groups wishing to establish new fraternities on campus.

Each year IFC sends delegates to the National Interfraternity Conference, which was held in New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel this year, and the Big Ten Conference. The IFC-Panhel dance and the all-college Greek feast are the major social events co-sponsored with Panhellenic Council.

ALPHA CHI SIGMA

Alpha Upsilon Chapter

Founded at University of Wisconsin, Madison, 1902

Established at MSC in 1928

The Alpha Upsilon chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma claims as its members men who plan to make some field of chemistry their life's work.

Chapter activities center around many traditional events including Homecoming, the Water Carnival, Activities Carnival and intramural sports.

The men take special pride in a trophy which they have retained for the last three years in an annual sports clash with the Alpha Chi Sigma chapter at the University of Michigan.

Another tradition was honored by the group when they treated thirty underprivileged children to a Christmas party. The fraternity also sponsored students from a rural school in a campus sports tournament spring term.

In addition to the numerous house parties and exchange dinners, the chapter kept in the social whirl with a winter term formal dinner dance.

Alpha Chi Sigma housemother is Mrs. Gladys Thomas and their national magazine is entitled "Hexagon." Rated tops among their repertoire of college songs is "Alpha Chi Sigma Sweetheart."

ALPHA EPSILON PI

In addition to contributing to as many MSC projects as possible, members of Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity made steady progress in remodeling and redecorating their house in the past year. The men were concerned mainly with altering the interior of the house and making the individual rooms more attractive.

Despite the time consumed on the remodeling job, AEPi's were still able to devote their talents to other projects. One of the honors which they claimed was a second place trophy in the Lambda Chi Alpha's annual Junior "500" Pushcart Derby. The group also had its share of social events. Highlighting the year for members and dates were after-game open houses, record dances and theme parties.

The AEPi's continued their policy of creating constructive work for their pledges. They were represented in many of the important college organizations, including Campus Chest. The group's national magazine is "The Lion" and their song is "AEPi Sweetheart." Alumni advisor is Alex Cohen.

Among the high points of the year for the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity were an annual formal dinner dance winter term and a Christmas party for underprivileged children.

AGR members played their way to an IFC softball championship last spring and were runners-up in the all-college competition. In the Junior "500," their pushcart relay team took high honors.

Fraternity members also contributed their efforts to the Activities Carnival, Harvest Ball and Career Carnival.

Participants in many campus organizations from the group included Excalibur members Bob Scott and Rod Black; head of Agriculture Council Tom Williamson and APO president Will Sterzik.

Others were Don Dunbar, president of Floriculture Forum; Ted Weber, president of Scabbard and Blade and John Nickelsen, president of the Armored Club.

AGR housemother is Mrs. John Black; advisor, Lee Merrill. National magazine of the fraternity is "Sickle and Sheaf."

ALPHA PHI ALPHA

Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity is the first Greek letter organization on the M.S.C. campus to open its ranks to any male student regardless of race, creed and color.

During spring term, fraternity members surged ahead of the other contestants to take first place in the Junior "500" Pushcart Derby. The men also presented their annual spring formal. Rushing Smokers held fall term brought 14 new pledges into the group. One of the high points of winter term for the Alpha Phi Alpha's was a term party.

Spartacade was one of the all-college activities which the group planned to participate in for the first time. Because of its size, Alpha Phi Alpha has not been able to compete in intramural sports although several of the members have been on varsity teams. Willie Thrower, Jim Ellis and Ellis Duckett were football letter-winners and Henry Gillis was a member of the track team. At present, the fraternity does not have a house in East Lansing, but hopes to buy one in the near future. Meetings are conducted in the Union.

They won the IFC football title for five consecutive years, the '52 IFC swimming championship and the IFC All-Sports trophy two out of the four years it has been in existence.

The men of ATO are avid participants in varsity football, track and baseball teams as well as student governing bodies, clubs and organizations.

The Blackfoot Ball, a Christmas party for underprivileged children and an annual conclave at which men from five Michigan ATO chapters assemble for a day of athletics and social activities are some of the featured events of the year.

Past projects included assisting the Lansing YMCA and cleaning the Lansing Community Chest Building in order to observe the policy of replacing "Hell Week" with "Help Week."

Last year, the ATO's helped start a Mothers' Club with mothers from the East Lansing area.

BETA THETA PI

Competing for the Homecoming trophy and sponsoring the annual Delta Street Shuffle were some of the projects which kept members of Beta Theta Pi fraternity busy fall term.

A yearly dinner dance at Indian Hills Country Club was presented by the group winter term. Combining with the Sigma Chi's and Phi Delta Theta's, the Beta's commemorated the founding of the three fraternities at Miami University with a spectacular Miami Triad dance at the Hotel Olds.

Members collaborated on entries for Spartacade and the Water Carnival and won second place in the Junior "500" Pushcart Derby. They also planned a Parents' Day program to coincide with the regular college Parents' Day.

Several Beta's were active participants on the State News, Wolverine, Spartan Engineer, Homecoming committee, Water Carnival committee, Varsity football and basketball squads and class councils.

Beta Theta Pi housemother is Mrs. Maud Scott and alumni advisor is Herbert Bissell.

Members of Delta Chi fraternity, who have called 1953 "their" year, played an active role in numerous campus activities throughout the year.

Last spring they combined efforts with the Gamma Phi Beta's to win top honors in Spartacade and during the football season fall term, the Delta Chi's took first place in the Homecoming display with their "Victory Train."

Among the social highlights of the year was the annual Delta Chi Christmas party for underprivileged Lansing children. The party has been a tradition since 1948. Another social event was the annual spring formal, which attracted alumni from all parts of the country.

Many of the recent MSC graduates from the house are now affiliated with the Detroit Alumni Chapter which was organized for the first time last year.

Delta Chi housemother is Mrs. Verna Pusch and Joseph Lacchia is alumni advisor.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

The Delta Sigma Phi fraternity has taken close to top if not highest honors in many campus events in the last three terms.

Four-time winners of the Water Carnival Grand Prize, the men earned another distinction when they grabbed a second place spot in the past season's IFC sports competition. The Delta Sigma Phi's were the first to be awarded the Lansing YMCA plaque for the fraternity performing outstanding services in the community. The plaque is a tribute to the many hours spent by the men on such projects as YMCA sporting events in local elementary schools and working with the Boys' Vocational School in Lansing.

Among the fraternity's most successful social events during the past year were the annual Sailors' Ball, the Heaven and Hell party and a formal winter term party. During intramural athletic events, the Delta Sigma Phi's were spurred on by their enthusiastic if not musically perfect "Marching Band."

MSC's Delta Sigma Pi fraternity was established for men in the field of Business Administration.

The fraternity offers its members a well-rounded social and professional program in which highlights of the social year are the Rose Formal and Term Party. Each year the group chooses a National Rose Queen to reign over the Rose Dance during winter term. A formal dinner dance is held in the spring.

Delta Sigma Pi's also sponsor a series of speakers and tours to various industrial plants throughout the state. C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors Corporation, was one of the featured speakers last year and a tour of the Chevrolet plant in Flint was planned for winter term.

Their house which was newly painted last fall provided a gala setting for returning alumni who gathered to celebrate Homecoming and Founders' Day.

One of the group's proudest achievements was its third place scholastic standing on campus.

They receive a bi-monthly publication, "The Delta Sig," and claim as their song, "The Rose of Delta Sig."

DELTA TAU DELTA

During the past year, members of Delta Tau Delta fraternity received many chapter and individual honors.

The Delts and Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority were awarded a third place trophy in the annual Water Carnival last spring and the fraternity's golf team won the Intramural championship for the second straight year.

During the summer, honors went to two fraternity members when Clarke Scholes, All-American swimmer, won an Olympic first place gold medal in the 100-meter free-style race in Helsinki, Finland and Duane Vernon was elected national president of Phi Chi Eta, quartermaster honorary, at Fort Lee, Va.

In August the chapter was host to the Delts' national convention at Mackinac Island. Fall term the group sponsored a briefing banquet for the 29 Homecoming Queen candidates and later co-sponsored the annual Christmas Tree lighting ceremony in front of the Union.

They became the first college social fraternity in the U. S. to play host to a Miss America. Miss Neva Jean Langley was presented a key to the college by Duane Vernon and a sweetheart pin by Ron Gay when she visited East Lansing fall term.

Delta Upsilon fraternity members celebrated the chapter's fourth anniversary at MSC with an elaborate dinner dance at the Hotel Olds in January.

Besides holding numerous buffet dinners, record dances, exchange dinners and parties throughout the past year, the DU's added a new activity to their calendar—coaching members of Delta Gamma sorority for a gridiron clash with the Gamma Phi Beta's.

Additional DU projects included designing and building a Homecoming display, participating in intramural sports and treating local underprivileged children to a traditional Christmas party. DU members lived up to their motto, "A Delta U in Everything and Every Delta U in Something" by being active in student government, publications and athletics. They also devoted many hours to the Union Board, Campus Chest and were represented in Blue Key and several other honoraries. Along with other campus groups, they sang, ran or floated—as suited the occasion—in the Fraternity Sing, Junior "500" Pushcart Derby and Water Carnival.

FARMHOUSE

Farmhouse, a fraternity founded especially for agriculture students, was set up at MSC about 18 years ago.

Three of the major activities which Farmhouse members took part in were last spring's Water Carnival, the Junior "500" Pushcart Derby and fall's Homecoming display contest. Their social agenda featured many parties including winter term's formal "Crescent Ball." The group honored a long-standing fraternity tradition when they sponsored a Christmas party for children of the community. One of the proudest achievements of Farmhouse members during the year was being awarded the R.F.C. Scholarship trophy.

National magazine of Farmhouse is "Pearls and Rubies," and their local publication is "Spartan Scribe." The chapter's favorite song is "Witchcraft"; its motto, "Builder of Men." Mrs. Helen Bartlett acts as housemother for the group and alumni advisor is Kenneth Frey.

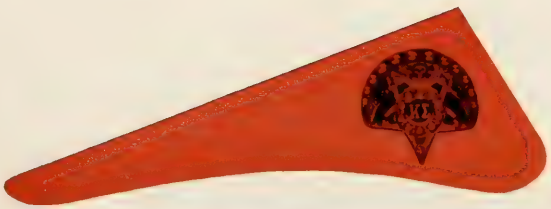
Kappa Sigma fraternity members contributed to many campus social and service functions during the past year.

During the fall, members sponsored Halloween and Thanksgiving parties for underprivileged children of the community. They also supervised the activities of students from Northwestern grade school in the annual track and marble contest.

Several Kappa Sigma's were outstanding workers in MSC organizations. Among these were Curtis Beck, president of the Provost Corps; Alvin Rich, captain of the Dairy Judging Team who came in fourth in the national contest and Robert Hoke, who placed second in a Big Ten wrestling championship.

The fraternity's housemother is Mrs. Arthur A. Coulter and alumni advisor is Mark Kistler.

They have contributed to their national magazine, "The Caduceus" and their favorite song is the "Kappa Sig March Song."



LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

MSC's Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity takes the campus spotlight each spring when it sponsors the Junior "500" Pushcart Derby. All organized men's living units are eligible to place entries in the race, which starts near Women's Gym and continues around a mile of Circle Drive. Lambda Chi's arrange for trophies to be given winning teams, and have a crescent queen and court reign over the festivities. Hundreds of spectators assemble to cheer on their favorites. The pushcart custom was initiated by chapter members in 1947 and is one of the most colorful of MSC traditions.

Other Lambda Chi social activities and services last year were participation in Spartacade, donations to college blood drives and a Homecoming party fall term. The group also received an award from the college for scholastic improvement.

National magazine of the Lambda Chi's is "Cross and Crescent." Mrs. Louise Samann is the group's housemother and alumni advisor is Harold Niven.

Many of the campus' smoothly co-ordinated and varied activities were given a helping hand by members of MSC's Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

In conjunction with the Pi Beta Phi sorority, the men worked feverishly on an entry which gave them a second place prize in last spring's Water Carnival. Among their many social highlights the same term was the popular Ups and Downs party. Fall term, the Phi Delta Theta's went along with other campus living units to participate in the annual Homecoming contest. Fraternity members were also active in the college's program of intramural sports. Despite a first-game loss to Psi Upsilon that was the only blemish on their intramural football record, they managed a second place rating in the six-team block.

Phi Delta Theta's made valuable contributions to many other aspects of campus life during the year.

PHI KAPPA SIGMA

Several outstanding events helped members of Phi Kappa Sigma record a profitable year on campus.

One was a highly successful Hawaiian Hula party in the Union Building last spring which the group co-sponsored with the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Due to the gratifying turnout at the party, the two decided to make it an annual event. Also last spring, the Phi Kappa Sigma's donned costumes a la Bolshevik and won the third place trophy in the Junior "500" Pushcart Derby, constructed a Water Carnival float and topped off the season with a term party.

Fall term saw the fraternity wallop a team from U. of M.'s Delta Omicron chapter in an annual football funfest. The victory enabled MSC's chapter to retain possession of the coveted "Big Brown Jug." State Attorney General Frank Millard and football coach Biggie Munn and their wives were special guests at a Halloween costume party and several record dances at the house rounded out winter term social activities for the Phi Kappa Sigma's.

Major social functions in which members of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity participated this year were its annual Winter Formal and the Delta Street Shuffle, co-sponsored with the Beta Theta Pi's.

Last spring they were able to dunk unlucky members of a rival fraternity in an annual tug-of-war by the Red Cedar and in a different type of competition, they were co-winners in Spartacade sponsored by Campus Chest. Another project was a party for Christian underprivileged children.

Phi Tau livewires in campus activities were Bill Shannon, Blue Key member and president of Men's Council and Gene German, also a Blue Key member and cheerleader.

Outstanding in sports were Paul Dekker, veteran end on the football squad and Dick Edin who returned as varsity catcher for the baseball team.

Mrs. Helen Havers is the group's housemother and Harold Kerr serves as alumni advisor.

The national magazine of the fraternity is "The Laurel" and its favorite song is "Phi Tau Dream Girl."

PI KAPPA PHI

Members of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity counted another active year on campus in 1952-53.

In the past two years, they have taken first place honors in Spartacade along with Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Gamma Delta sororities. They have been among the top fraternities in scholastic ratings during the same period. They placed three members on the '52-'53 varsity fencing team and Dick Berry was elected the outstanding collegiate fencer of the year. Dick Pfeil and Don Vallier were also varsity lettermen. Another member, Al Scowcroft, has been on the varsity as well as the Army rifle team for three years and was a big factor in getting MSC a second place rating in the Big 10 standings for riflemen. Keith Darby was student manager of the football team and Wynn Pardee was appointed regimental executive officer of the ROTC ground forces.

About 50 of the men took up paint brushes and gave their house opposite Berkey Hall a "new look" in the record time of six hours last year. Another achievement was redecorating their basement and recreation room.

For the last four years, members of Psi Upsilon fraternity have won the annual fraternity sing. The first three wins entitled the house to a permanent trophy and the fourth gave Psi Upsilon temporary possession of a new traveling cup.

Some of the top social activities of Psi Upsilon during the past year included Mothers' and Fathers' Day held both spring and fall terms, an apache party winter term and an annual Christmas party for underprivileged children at the close of fall term. Numerous buffet dinners, open houses, and other events were sponsored by the group.

The Psi U's took an active part in IFC sports during the past year with Don and Dave Hosie the two mainstays of the house in track events, including the Turkey Trot and Junior "500."

Several of the fraternity's leading members such as Lee Hanson, sing director and Joe Shaw, president of IFC, will graduate from MSC this spring.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity celebrated their chapter's twenty-fifth anniversary on campus this spring.

They collected over a thousand books in a drive to supplement the library at Ionia Reformatory. The SAE's also took active part in the Homecoming competition, Spartacade, Junior "500" Pushcart Race and Water Carnival. Several members were leaders in campus politics, athletics, publications and honorary organizations.

Social events sponsored by the group were the Gangster, French Cabaret and Wild West parties. One of the most realistic and effective of SAE costume parties was the annual South Sea Island party spring term. Couples danced to tropical music in a room decorated with bananas and coconuts. One of the more humorous details was an attention-gaining African monkey playing in the artificial palm trees.

Record parties and open houses were held in addition to the annual SAE term party, a formal dinner dance, in the Hotel Olds.

MSC's chapter of Sigma Chi branched out from two local fraternities, Trimora and Phylean in 1942. With over 70 active members, the chapter is part of one of oldest and largest national fraternities in the U. S.

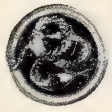
The Sigma Chi's captured many campus honors last year, winning the IFC track championship and a second place rating with the Alpha Phi's in Campus Chest's Spartacade.

The members came up with several novel social events during the year, among them a Gay Nineties party, a Providence Carnival held at one of the member's country estate and an outing at a lakeside retreat.

Social highlight of the year for the chapter was the annual Miami Triad formal which the group co-sponsored with the Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta fraternities. Another special event was the colorful Sweetheart Ball for which Gloria Clyma was chosen chapter sweetheart.

A new housemother, Mrs. Artrude Barton, took her place at the redecorated house.

SIGMA NU



The combined efforts of Sigma Nu fraternity pledges and actives as well as landscape specialists helped create the functional beauty of their new Burcham Drive house. The new house became a reality after several years of careful planning.

Three Sigma Nus, John Wilson, Walker Mayhew and Mark Ford were honored by being elected to Excalibur. Wilson was also chosen to head the senior class. Mayhew served as Union Board president and Dan Sundt acted on the Union Board's Board of Directors. Another active Sigma Nu, Lee Staser, was elected president of the freshman class.

The coveted All-Sports Traveling Trophy came to the house for two consecutive years after the group took a first in both inter-fraternity and all-college basketball and an inter-fraternity second in both tennis and softball.

Included in the varied social events throughout the year were term parties, record dances, fraternity-sorority football games, square dances, exchange desserts, ski-weekends and the traditional after-game cider and doughnut parties and the White Rose Formal near the end of spring term.

First Row—Coyne, Knudson, Stoeker, Byfield, Mrs. Hattie Gilpin, Mayhew, Roberts, DeTar, Bauer. Second Row—Ericke, Thomas, Armstrong, Garner, Wilson, Reault, Knott, Rhodes, Sundt, Egan, Staser. Third Row—Edwards, Kreps, Sahratian, Quayle, Pleger, McLachlan, Hartman, Carlson, Stackhouse, Herberholz.

Theta Chi members attempted to form a stronger band between the active chapter and the alums this year through several banquets and meetings.

A banquet was held at the Kellogg Center for the alumni during last fall's Homecoming Weekend. Two hundred guests attended the event, the first of its kind for the fraternity.

Collaborating with the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, Theta Chi took a fourth place rating in the annual Water Carnival last year with a colorful Noah's Ark rounding out the theme, "Double Indemnity."

At a national convention the chapter was recognized for its continued high scholarship throughout the years and was presented a trophy for its efforts to maintain a high scholastic record. Theta Chi pledges remained at the top of the IFC Council Pledge Test for six consecutive terms.

The flower of Theta Chi is a red carnation and colors include military red and white. Their motto is "Alma mater first and Theta Chi for alma mater."

One of the main projects for the chapter will be formulating plans for a new house to be built in the next few years.

THETA XI

Theta Xi social activities occupied much of the time of the fraternity's active members during the past year.

Buffet dinners were staged after the football games fall term and a special Homecoming party was planned for visiting alumni on the day of the Penn State game. A formal term party was given by the group winter term and during spring term, a novel song title costume party had members and dates trying to outdo each other with ingenious costumes. Several record dances were held throughout the year at the chapter house.

Theta Xi athletic teams went out for fun and honors in the InterFraternity Council softball, football and bowling programs. In co-operation with members of Delta Zeta sorority, Theta Xi's sponsored a float "All This and Heaven Too" for the '52 Water Carnival. Members also took part in the annual InterFraternity Sing and entered a Homecoming display fall term. The fraternity had 45 active members and ten pledges in '52-'53. Mrs. Grace Knoblock served her first year as housemother and hostess of the chapter.

Members of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity celebrated the chapter's fifth year at MSC on November 14, 1952, with a full social weekend which included a memorable houseparty.

Spring term activities reached a high point when a sectional convention of Zeta Beta Tau was held at the Michigan State chapter. Eighteen other ZBT chapters sent delegates to the convention's leadership training school and business sessions. The guests were entertained by movies of the MSC-Notre Dame football game and a formal dinner dance held in the Kellogg Center.

Many Saturday luncheons and post-game open houses were planned fall term after the season was ushered in with a "Back to School" party. Pledge parties, record dances, a term party and annual dinner dance were also among Zeta Beta Tau projects.

The members won top honors in the humor division in last spring's Junior "500" Pushcart Derby. In addition to participating in the Water Carnival, Spartacade and Parents' Day, the group was awarded the Fraternity Advisors' Association trophy for the most improved scholarship.

Mrs. Rose Krueger is Zeta Beta Tau housemother.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

The task of organizing and coordinating sorority activities falls to the 34 members of the Panhellenic Council. Together with the City Panhellenic Board and the Alumni Advisory Board, Panhel governs MSC's 17 sororities.

Like IFC, the fraternity governing body, Panhel's biggest job of the year is organizing and directing rushing. The members planned a fall rushing convocation to enable coeds to learn what rushing involves and what is expected of them as rushees.

With the Interfraternity Council Panhel co-sponsored Greek week fall term. Highlighted by exchange dinners and desserts, it provides an opportunity for all the Greeks to get acquainted with members of other houses. The week is climaxed by a dance.

Founders' Day was one of the many gala events for the Alpha Chi Omega sorority during the past year. The annual celebration held around mid-October was highlighted by a huge dinner for chapter members and visiting alumnae.

Alpha Chi Omega fathers saw the nation's top football team in action when their daughters escorted them to the State-Syracuse game. Then the coeds treated them to dinner at the house after the contest. The distaff sides of their families were honored at a luncheon spring term. Besides making preparations for their term party, picnics, exchange dinners and record dances, the group gave a party for local underprivileged children.

Alpha Chi's played an active part in campus activities including the Water Carnival and Homecoming. One of the members, Virginia Grissim, was chosen to serve on the Homecoming court. Their display had a ferris wheel with figures to represent MSC opponents traveling in circles. Alpha Chi's national project was designing and making toys for children afflicted with cerebral palsy. Alpha Chi's housemother is Mrs. Fay Lewis.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

Members of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority participated in numerous social activities during the year including a Dad's Day fall term. The proud poppas were treated to a luncheon at the house and a Spartan football game later in the afternoon.

Shortly before the holidays, the coeds' mothers were honored at a traditional Christmas luncheon. A party was also given by the group for several teenage girls who are victims of cerebral palsy. A formal term party for new pledges was held winter term.

The Alpha Gamma Deltas carried out their international project by having an Argyle Sock Raffle. Proceeds of the raffle went to cerebral palsy victims. The sorority won a fourth place rating with their "Double Indemnity" float for the Water Carnival and first place honors in Spartacade. For their exhibit at the annual flower show fall term, they took both first and grand prizes. Among outstanding Alpha Gamma Deltas are Mary Schlecht, treasurer of PanHel and Cecelia McKee, president of the Women's Glee Club. Housemother for the sorority is Mrs. Ruth Buck.

The Rose Ball highlighted the Alpha Omicron Pi social season. Named for the AOPi flower, the Jacqueminot Rose, the dinner dance was held at the Porter Hotel winter term. Cuff links were given as favors and each girl's date wore a rose boutonniere.

Last spring term held a variety of activities for the sisters. The trophy for the Water Carnival mixed doubles canoe race was awarded to an AOPi, Betty Baker, and her paddle partner. Betty and sorority sister Julia Neuder were sponsors in the Junior "500" Pushcart Race. The wind put a crimp in AOPi Water Carnival plans. Along with Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, members had built a float, "Tobacco Road," showing two cigarettes walking up the Devil's tongue. After the first run, the wind blew the entire float into the Red Cedar. However, the two groups picked up the pieces and called their second night presentation "Gone With the Wind."

Alpha Omicron Pi members dedicated their house to the Spirit of Friendship during Friendship Week. A formal open house was held in April. The group also participated in intramural baseball, basketball, bowling and tennis. Housemother is Mrs. Gilbert Daniel.

ALPHA PHI

"It was close, but we won!"

This is how delighted Alpha Phi's described the outcome of their traditional football game with the Psi U's. The score: 14-13.

Alpha Phi joined with the other sororities to participate in Spartacade, Homecoming and the Water Carnival. Aid to those with cardiac conditions is their national project. The social events which filled their calendar were exchange dinners and desserts, record parties, hayrides and the annual formal term party at the Olds Hotel. Members of the faculty were honored at a tea fall term at the Alpha Phi house and a picnic was planned for graduating seniors' spring term. Another special event which the coeds collaborated on was a tea for the many Indian students on campus. The sorority's sunken gardens was the background for a party spring term.

Joan McMahon was president of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary and Barbara Slocum was a corps sponsor. Mrs. Marsha Williams served her first year as housemother for the group.

Among other Tri-Delt social activities were hayrides, record parties, exchange dinners and annual term party, The Crescent Ball, in the Hotel Olds. Taking a better-late-than-never attitude, the Tri-Delts had a belated Halloween party at their house in November. They entered many college events including the Homecoming contest, Water Carnival, Spartacade and intramural sports program.

Tri-Delta's housemother is Mrs. Katherine Byrne.

DELTA GAMMA

National project for the Delta Gamma's is sight conservation and aid to the blind. The DG's made weekly visits to the Michigan School for the Blind to entertain the children with games and stories, planned a picnic for them fall term and gave a Christmas party for several underprivileged Lansing children.

Besides performing valuable community services, the DG's held their annual term party this spring, an exchange dessert with the Gamma Phi Beta's and a lumberjack party. They triumphed over the Gamma Phi's by the score of 19-6 in the sororities' traditional football rivalry. The group took second place honors in the Homecoming contest.

GAMMA PHI BETA

A first place in the Skills Division of Spartacade and a second place in Sorority Sing are a sample of Gamma Phi Beta triumphs during '52-'53.

Maintaining a camp for underprivileged girls is the Gamma Phi national service project. Their national magazine is "The Crescent." One of the most important events of the sorority's history on the M.S.C. campus occurred when the coeds moved into their new house on Harrison Road this year. A special Founders' Day celebration for all alums was held. During the ceremonies, they dedicated their library to two Chi O alumnae, Mrs. C. J. Olsen and Mrs. Edward Pinckney, both of Lansing, who helped the sorority get the new house.

A Homecoming open house, Fathers' Day program, exchange desserts and dinners, a Christmas party for underprivileged children, Parents' Day festivities and a dinner for graduating seniors rounded out the year for the busy Gamma Phi's.

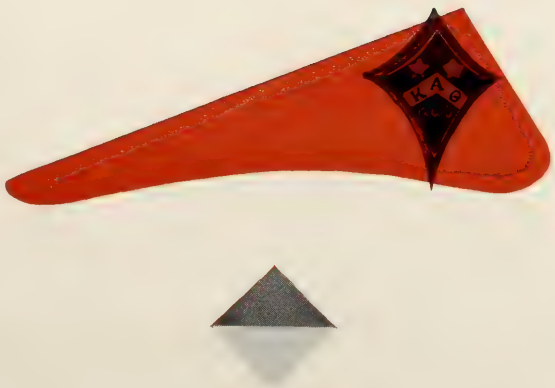
Kappa Alpha Theta members had royalty among them this year.

Dee Means reigned over all Homecoming events, Mimi Cummiskey was selected queen for the Harvest Ball and Virginia Carson was a member of the Porpoise Court. The coeds collaborated on a Homecoming display which was given a third-place rating. Another achievement for the group was sharing first place honors with Chi Omega sorority in Athena's Day competition.

Included in the many social events during the year were the annual Fathers' Day party after the Notre Dame football game, a Christmas and Easter party as well as a picnic for blind children, and a party for members and alums celebrating the end of the sorority's 26th year on campus. A formal term party was held by the Theta's spring term. Besides the many social events, extra-curricular activities and studies, the members found time to participate in the Sorority Sing and Water Carnival. Mrs. Mary McCabe continued as the group's housemother.



KAPPA DELTA

As an incentive for members to improve their scholastic standings, the Kappa Delta's hold a unique steak and bean dinner at the beginning of every term. Each member whose previous term's point average has slipped or is below 2.0 must eat beans, while each sister who has raised her average gets to tantalize both palate and sisters with a huge steak dinner. Results fall term: Kappa Delta's rated third among sororities scholastically.

In addition to a term party and Christmas party, a Basin Street shindig with decorations such as miniature roulette wheels, card games and unusual costumes has become a tradition with the KD's.

The coeds planned their first State Day with guests from Albion, U. of M., and active alumni groups throughout Michigan for spring term. Funds for crippled children were raised through the purchase of Christmas seals by sorority members. Kappa Delta housemother during the past year was Mrs. Sally Brooks.

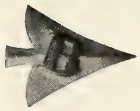
Instead of having a spring term party last year, the Kappa Kappa Gamma's and Psi U's gave a party for blind children. The children played games, ate dinner and were given presents by the two groups.

For the annual Sorority Sing, the Coeds dressed down in fringed bluejeans, red suspenders and rope belts to add atmosphere to their selection, "Clap Yo' Hands." Fall term, they initiated two events, an interfraternity-sorority openhouse after the Syracuse game and the Monmouth Duo, a dance presented with the Pi Phi's. Kappa dads were kings for a day fall term at the annual Fathers' Day program. They were taken to the Texas A&M game and after a banquet supper were entertained with skits and songs which relived their own raccoon coat and model "T" college days.

The Kappa's and Delta Tau Delta's contributed 9,205 pounds of wood for the bonfire at the Notre Dame pep rally. The coeds turned athletic after they were challenged to a football game by the Sigma Nu's. They were rewarded with a dinner at the Sigma Nu house after the contest. Housemother is Mrs. Sarah Remington.

PI BETA PHI



The Pi Beta Phi's marked another profitable year of achievements and experiences during '52-'53.

Among the events which will be brought to mind by the coeds in future years was an open house and buffet dinner following the Homecoming game. They received honorable mention for their display. The sorority celebrated Halloween with the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity by entertaining a group of Lansing children. Three weeks later the Pi Phi's joined with the Kappa Kappa Gamma's to hold the Monmouth Duo Dance. The dance was instituted in honor of Monmouth College where both groups were founded in 1867. Winter term the coeds added an annual Father's Day party to its social agenda. The mothers were feted in spring with a tea on the weekend of the Sorority Sing.

In April, the coeds extended their hospitality to the U. of M. and Hillsdale chapters of Pi Beta Phi for the annual State Day convention which was held in the Union. The year was climaxed with a formal dinner dance and the senior farewell ceremony. Housemother is Mrs. Clara R. Lincoln.

Sigma Kappa sorority members celebrated their chapter's 25th anniversary on the M.S.C. campus this year.

More than 300 Sigma Kappa's from all over the nation took part in a big weekend of activities which included a banquet and all-college tea. High point of the weekend for the hostesses was receiving the Wick Award from the National Council. The award is presented every two years to the Sigma Kappa chapter most outstanding in scholarship, leadership and activities. Many Sigma Kappa traditions have been upheld through the years. Two honored during '52-'53 were Mothers' Day in spring when the coeds entertained their mothers with a dinner and Fathers' Day fall term when the dads were escorted to a football game and banquet at the house.

Other memorable events were a Christmas party, upper and lower class picnics, a celebration for graduating seniors and an annual dinner dance winter term. Sigma Kappa members also participated in the Water Carnival, Spartacade, Homecoming display, Sorority Sing and intramural sports.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

National service project of the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority is publishing a manual to aid in the treatment of cerebral palsy. More than 300 of the manuals have been sent overseas.

The coeds listed among their achievements for the year winning their province's Proficiency Award for 1951-53 and last year's "Ugliest Man on Campus" contest. A lunch for all Michigan chapters of Zeta Tau Alpha was given by the local chapter on State Day last spring. Other highlights of the term were a picnic at Grand Ledge, a banquet for graduating seniors and a Hawaiian Hula dance co-sponsored with the Hawaiian Club and Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Fall term the coeds had a hayride followed by a dance at the house, an open house after the Homecoming game and a Christmas party. The group's Homecoming display won an honorable mention and their proteges in the Turkey Trot, the Sigma Chi's, took second place. The Zeta Tau Alpha's planned their traditional pledge and term parties in addition to decorating their house winter term. Zeta Tau Alpha housemother is Mrs. Jessica Williams.

MEN'S INTER-DORM COUNCIL

Co-ordinating the activities in all men's dormitories on campus is the main function of the Men's Inter-Dorm Council.

The group has charge of all intramural sports for dorm men and the annual Inter-Dorm Sing. Each spring term the council sponsors a banquet at which awards for winners in intramural contests, the inter-dorm sing and scholastic achievements are presented. This year's "Council Ball" was the prime social undertaking for the organization. One of the projects most appreciated by the students under council jurisdiction is the council cleaning service for all men's dorms.

This year, MSC played host to a convention of college inter-dorm councils throughout the nation May 1-3. Officers were President, Irving Burness; Vice-President and Treasurer, Tom Platt and Secretary, John Davis.

No long walks to the Union are necessary for Bob Weber, Jim Auvil, Herb Brinkman, Wayne Bannink and Duane Crawford who enjoy refreshments from the Abbot Hall grill.

ABBOT

Fall and spring term parties highlighted the social season at Abbot Hall this year. Numerous exchange dinners and record parties with the various women's dorms supplied Abbot residents with entertainment almost every weekend. Abbot men ranked high in intramural sports including football, basketball, and baseball. Residents proved strongest in football, copping the coveted intramural championship.

The year was filled with activities for the men of Abbot who worked on entries for Water Carnival, Lambda Chi Alpha's Junior "500", and Spartacade. Mason Hall, joined to Abbot on the west, was a source of continuous joy for Abbot men since it was changed to house coeds fall term.

Officers for the first year were: President, Al Bodary; Vice-President, John Beck; Secretary, Edward Murphy and Treasurer, John Zeigelbaur.

Below, left: Bill Ferrara, Chuck Bodary and John Beck hope that intense cramming will help them pass tomorrow's mid-term.

Below, right: Abbot Hall spirit manifests itself in a large banner for a forthcoming football game which Jim Auble, Al Bodary and Don Wilson hoist into position.

PHILLIPS

Phillips Hall has been open since September of 1947, and now provides rooms for 550 men.

Semi-formal parties were main events for Phillips residents, along wtih the Inter-Dorm Ball winter term. Exchange dinners were held weekly, and bi-weekly record dances were held throughout the year.

The most outstanding achievement of Phillips men was winning the first place trophy in the Water Carnival with their float, "Go For Broke." The float showed a model of a well-known politician seated on a donkey, throwing dollar bills into the Red Cedar. Phillips Hall competed in the intramural sports program, and also entered a team in the Lambda Chi Alpha Jr. "500".

EAST SHAW

Despite the whirl of last spring term's activities, East Shaw men ended up with a second place scholastic rating among men's living units.

The men relaxed from studying and participated in intramural sports, the Water Carnival, Lambda Chi Alpha's Jr. "500" and Spartacade. Appropriate fall decorations and the theme Fantise D'Automne ushered in the term party. Keeping the men informed on the local happenings was the job of the East Wind News. The paper has enjoyed an enthusiastic readership ever since it was started.

East Shaw officers were President, Bill Reid; Vice-President, Tom Wyllie; Secretary, Don Perry and Treasurer, Ernie Muzzey.

Alan Bird, Don Holland, Rennold Klawson and Jack Kellogg take a break from their studies to play cards.

Preparing dishes for the "iron monster" are Bob Baird, Tony Tomaszewski, Lee Salvagione and Terry Tyksinski.

WEST SHAW

During the year, West Shaw sponsored a record dance for residents every Friday night. Spring term, the men of Shaw sponsored their second semi-formal dinner dance and presented orchid corsages to their dates. A term party was held in the fall, and precinct exchange dinners were planned throughout the year.

West Shaw participated in Water Carnival competition and in the Lambda Chi Alpha Jr. "500". East and West Shaw together placed second in the Inter-Dorm Sing and for the second straight year, West Shaw won the wood-gathering contest planned for the Notre Dame pep rally, collecting 25 tons of wood.

Officers of West Shaw were President, Bill Hamilton; Vice-President, Roger Abdella; Secretary, John Cheney and Treasurer, Jack Connelly.

SNYDER

Built in 1947, Snyder Hall was the residence of 580 men this year. The dorm is divided into nine precincts, each with its own advisor. Men from each precinct are named to serve on the General Council which governs the living unit. This year for the first time, the council sponsored an orientation program for new men in the dorm.

Semi-formal dances were given by the men both spring and fall terms. May Memories was the theme of the spring party and the fall dance was Candlelight Cotillion. They also planned record dances every other Friday night. Once a term, the group sponsored an open house and invited coeds from various dormitories to attend. The men invited forty children to a Christmas party shortly before the holidays.

Last spring term Snyder won the Inter-Dorm All Sports Trophy awarded the dorm whose precincts earned the most points in intramural competition.

WOMEN'S INTER-DORM COUNCIL

The Women's Inter-Dorm Council is composed of one representative from each of eleven dorms and two members of Mason Dorm. It has been in existence for over two years.

Purpose of the council is to integrate all women's dorm activities. It is represented on the Student Government Executive Board and Faculty-Student Board. This past year the council worked on drawing up a unified constitution for the dorms and sponsored an all-dormitory dance spring term. The Big Ten Dormitory Conference was also held at State. Other activities sponsored by the council were the Women's Inter-Dorm Sing and an officers' dinner.

Miss Dorothy Parker, Co-ordinator of Women's Activities, was advisor for the group and Mrs. Kathryn Gardner, Gilchrist Residence Manager, was assistant advisor. Council officers were President, Jackie DeHass; Secretary, Nancy Harris and Treasurer, Joyce McDaniels.

NORTH CAMPBELL

The coeds of North Campbell proved themselves great competitors this past year. They took first place in the Homecoming display contest, competed in Inter-Dorm Sing and intramural sports.

Spotted through their social calendar for the year were numerous exchange dinners, open houses, a Hallowe'en party and Christmas party. They also attended the Inter-Dorm picnic en masse.

One of their favorite projects was giving financial aid to a war orphan in a foreign country. North Campbell officers were President, Joyce Broo; Vice-President, Jessie Fiesselmann; Secretary, Marilyn Weigold and Treasurer, Nancy Wood.

S. CAMPBELL

South Campbell coeds helped support an Italian girl during the past year. By not having a term party, they raised $90 which was sent to the Foster Parents Plan for War Children to be applied towards the girl's needs. They also donated Christmas gifts to needy children through the Salvation Army.

Among the social events slated over the past three terms were open houses, exchange dinners, coffee hours and the traditional Christmas Tea. The women were active in numerous all-college activities. Officers were President, Sally Smith; Secretary, Barbara Duthie and Treasurer, Benita Phillips.

GILCHRIST

Gilchrist women kept themselves busy participating in all campus activities from Homecoming fall term to the Water Carnival spring term. Last year their float won the water show's grand prize. Fall term the coeds and their dates attended a formal term party and a Christmas party was given later in the term. The women brought gifts for underprivileged children to the Christmas party. Last spring, they won the baseball trophy for women's intramural sports. Other events were faculty and exchange dinners and the Inter-Dorm Sing.

Officers were President, Evelyn Lum; Vice-President, Carolyn Corser; Secretary, Nancy Cameron and Secretary-Treasurer, Sally Stewart.

EAST LANDON

During the school year East Landon coeds participated in campus activities such as Homecoming, Spartacade and Water Carnival. Faculty, exchange dinners and a scholarship dinner for girls with a 3.0 or higher were an important part of their social agenda. Sports in which the coeds competed were swimming, basketball, baseball and bowling.

Fall term the coeds held an informal term party, a Christmas tea and a party for orphans and underprivileged children. A formal party was given spring term on the lantern-decorated terrace. After winning the first place trophy in the annual Inter-Dorm Sing, they concluded the year's activities with a farewell dinner for graduating seniors.

WEST LANDON

Students with high point averages were heaped with honor this year at West Landon dormitory, where all coeds with a 3.0 or over were given a dinner winter term and one was held for all seniors with 3.0 or over, spring term.

Among many parties during the year, a term party for both East and West Landon was held in the dorm dining room fall term. Big event spring term was a formal term party with decorations outdoors and tables on the terrace. Other highlights were exchange dinners and record dances. At Christmas time, the coeds entertained 11 young people afflicted with cerebral palsy.

Due to the increase in enrollment of women and the building of a new dorm for men, Mason became a women's dorm for the first time last fall.

Mason is divided into nine precincts or "halls" and each has from 50 to 65 residents. The precincts name a representative to the dorm council and have their own committee chairmen and counselors.

In addition to the weekly Monday night house meetings, Mason residents meet with those from Abbott Hall, the connecting men's dorm, every third Tuesday.

Last fall the two dorms pooled their resources to hold a large semi-formal dance at Kellogg Center. They have also had numerous exchange dinners in the past year and collaborated on a Spartacade entry.

One of the many social events planned by the coeds was a Christmas dinner which Mason gave for several faculty members.

Among the honors won by East Mayo coeds this past year was the third place trophy for their entry in the Homecoming contest.

After the Notre Dame game, East Mayo women had their first open house of the year. Refreshments were served to guests. Halloween night, an open house was held with Snyder Hall. On the first Saturday in December the coeds played hostess to 80 underprivileged children who came for the annual Christmas party. The coeds bought gifts for the children and provided refreshments and entertainment. The following day, they had their traditional Christmas tea.

The annual Lantern party was held on the terrace in front of the dormitory spring term. Dance decorations followed a Venetian theme.

Fall activities at West Mayo Dormitory included an open house for Snyder men and several exchange dinners. The coeds celebrated Christmas at the dorm with a party and a chorus was organized to entertain at the event.

Featured winter term were several faculty dinners and the planning of a Spartacade booth. The Inter-Dorm dance and Water Carnival were all-college events in which West Mayo coeds also participated. Dinners for graduating seniors and women with a 3.0 average or better were held spring term.

Signing out for the evening are West Mayo residents Wanda Shearer, Lynn McCallum, Charlotte Schrier, Janice Dempsey, Bonnie Bishop, Jane Hubbard, Rita DuMar.

N. WILLIAMS

Spring term North Williams coeds took second place in the Inter-Dorm Sing, were hostesses for an Inter-Dorm banquet, and held a formal term party which had a Mardi Gras theme. With East Shaw, they entered a float entitled "Come To The Stable" in the 1952 Water Carnival. An open house on Parent's Day, and a senior dinner brought the term to a close.

A Homecoming display and open house started fall term's activities which included a Christmas dinner attended by President Hannah, faculty dinners, exchange dinners with other living units, participation in sports such as volley ball and baseball, and the UMOC contest.

North Williams' officers were President, Mary Jo Comella; Marjorie Garner, Secretary; Carol Andress, Treasurer and Joan Mahon, Social Chairman.

S. WILLIAMS

Each women's dorm at MSC has a senior dinner, but South Williams' coeds have a unique way in which they honor their graduating seniors. Shortly before the end of the term, members of the dorm form a procession. Singing and carrying candles, they go to each senior's room, serenade her and present her with a rose.

Many of the coeds rejoiced when South Williams was redecorated last year. Most talked-about improvement was the newly-furnished recreation room. One of the few rec rooms on campus with a fireplace, it was redone in a very modern style with blond wood and plastic chairs.

EAST YAKELEY

One of the major additions to East Yakeley dormitory this past year—a television set—proved to be a constant source of entertainment for the coeds.

First big project was the construction of a Spartan and Lion for the Homecoming display fall term. Spartacade and Water Carnival entries were planned winter and spring terms. Among the various social events were weekly faculty dinners, the Inter-Dorm dance, term parties, exchange dinners and record dances. The coeds also took time out to participate in the intramural sports program.

WEST YAKELEY

Fall term got off to a friendly start at West Yakeley Dormitory where an informal coke party was held to acquaint freshmen with other coeds and their "big sisters." Throughout the term, exchange dinners with men from various dorms and coffee hours after most of the football games were held. One of the term's special events was a Halloween party with Shaw men.

As the Christmas season rolled around, a choir was organized, the lounge was decorated and a huge tree was installed and decorated in the dining room. Climax of the term was the annual Christmas Tea. Spartacade was the dorm's major project winter term, and with spring came plans for the Water Carnival and the Inter-Dorm Sing.

MEN'S INTER-CO-OP COUNCIL

The Men's Inter-Cooperative Council was organized in 1945 for the purpose of forming a cohesive governing group for all men's co-op housing units. Since then, the council has dealt with many problems and undertaken numerous projects related to men's co-op living.

With members of the Women's Inter-Cooperative League, the group sponsors the yearly Inter-Cooperative Council formal dance, the "Co-Hop." Another important function of the council is to maintain the records and present awards to winners in the inter co-op sports league.

Advisors for the group are Mrs. Lurline M. Lee, Assistant to the Dean of Students, and Dr. Orion Ulrey, Professor of Agriculture Economics.

This year's council officers included President, Bill Morkam; Vice-President, Marcel Calabro; Secretary, Bill Allison and Treasurer, Rex Schilling.

Beal Co-op, founded in 1949, completed its fourth year on the Michigan State campus this year. The 22 members of the house have pledged themselves to co-operation, economy in living, and social fellowship. Their associations in the co-op supplement their other college activities.

The house participated in Showdeo and the Lambda Chi Alpha Jr. "500". The men also took on the task of repairing and refinishing their house. The co-op took part in the all-college Activities Carnival during fall term.

Officers of Beal Co-op this year were President, Eric Hendrickson; Treasurer, Herb Chesney; Purchasing Agent, Art Rowe and Secretary, Ken Karki.

ULREY

Ulrey House was organized at MSC in 1947 by a small group of veterans. Since then, the number of residents at Ulrey House has increased until this year it claimed 22 members.

Success in athletics has come easily to Ulrey House residents. Last spring term they won the Co-op League golf championship, while fall term they took top honors in the league's football championship for the third straight season. The same term, the house received a traveling trophy for winning the all-college independent football championship. The men also entered a team in the Lambda Chi Alpha Jr. "500."

Each term, an informal party highlighted the house's social agenda. In addition, the men held various exchange dinners and desserts. Record dances also proved to be popular diversions for the men and their dates. Officers during the year were President, Duane McCormack; Secretary, Jerry Davis; Treasurer, John Yellich; Steward, Raymond McKay and Purchasing Agent, Bill Morkam.

Left: Del Hyde and Bob McDonough hit the books together on the theory that two heads are better than one.

Since its founding at Michigan State in 1947, Bower House has come to be a successful adventure in co-operative living.

Each term, residents of Bower House have planned numerous social events including a term party, exchange dinners and desserts with members of other college living units and record dances. They have also been active participants in the inter co-op sports league and had several members in major M.S.C. organizations. Bill Allison, a member of Bower House, was elected secretary of the Inter-Cooperative Council.

The officers of Bower House this year were President, Daniel Dwyer; Secretary, Roy Emery; Steward, Freeman Lytle and Treasurer, Dirk DeBoer.

ELSWORTH

Founded in the Fall of 1940 by eight MSC students, Elsworth House was the second co-operative living unit to be established on Campus. As their project, the Elsworth men have been working to complete their new house at 711 West Grand River.

Among the many social events throughout the year were a senior dinner spring term, term and annual achievement award dinners, numerous exchange dinners and desserts with various co-ops and sororities, and programs with guest speakers. The group has been active in intramural sports, and has held not only the softball championship, but also trophies for football and basketball. Elsworth participated in the Lambda Chi Alpha Jr. "500".

Endeavoring to fill their group purpose during the past year, Elsworth House was led by officers Fred Hodgson, House Manager; Secretary, Ervin Bedker; Steward, Cleon Kortge and Purchasing Agent, Charles Cobb.

Right: Bob Kull, Bill Cart and Fred Hodgson pause from their share of the day's chores to talk shop.

Hedrick Co-op was founded at Michigan State College in 1939 as a non-profit student organization. Its purpose has been to create greater fellowship among college students by providing economical room and board as well as social and cultural activities for its members.

The house has the distinction of being the first in the nation to be both owned and operated by college students. Social life is carried out in Hedrick house by term parties, exchange dinners with women's living units, date dinners, and the annual homecoming party when alumni come back for reunion and the corporation meeting.

Athletics have been popular at Hedrick house. The men have participated in a full schedule of intramural sports. Besides participating in sports, Hedrick House has been outstanding in scholarship, winning the Inner Co-op Council Trophy for winter, spring and fall terms of 1952. James Orwick was the house advisor and officers for the year were President, Costas Apostolakis; Secretary, John Lenosky; Treasurer, Jim Ostler; Steward, Ed Lord and Purchasing Agent, Bill Kamradt.

WOMEN'S INTER-CO-OP LEAGUE

The Women's Co-operative League was founded in 1941, three years after the first women's co-operative house was established. Serving as the main instrument of unity between the houses, it was formed so that all women's co-ops could work as a group in entering campus activities.

Any resident of a women's co-op is eligible to be a member of the league, which at present numbers approximately 100 members. However, only the President of each house and a representative chosen at large can be a member of the executive council within the league. The council meets once a week. This year's officers were Carole Garnant, President; Mary Lou Anderson, Vice-President; Mariel McRobert, Recording Secretary; Carol Howarth, Corresponding Secretary and Sally Eaton, Treasurer. Mrs. Lurline Lee and Miss Ann Heiss, Faculty Advisors, and Mrs. Orletta Hanson, director of Women's Co-ops, make up the League's advisory board.

BLACK

Membership in Catherine Black House is open to all women on campus who maintain a 2.0 all-college average. Seventeen coeds lived at Black House this year.

House activities during the three terms included term parties, exchange dinners, open houses and birthday parties for the members. Participation in intramural sports also rated high with Black House residents.

Officers were: President, Ellen Spaulding; Vice-President, Marie Barthel and Secretary-Treasurer, Betty Van Gilder. Housemother was Mrs. Molly Kaiser.

CONCORD

Concord House, MSC's first women's cooperative, was established on campus in 1936. It housed 16 coeds this year.

Social events for residents included exchange dinners with other living units, birthday dinners and informal term parties each term. A homecoming reception and neighborhood coffee hour were held fall term.

Officers were: President, Sally Eaton; Vice-President, Annie Bates and Secretary-Treasurer, Carol Harrington. Housemother was Mrs. Concetta Buggelli.

EWING

Ewing House was the home of 16 girls interested in the informal atmosphere offered by MSC's co-op system this year.

Ewing House residents were active in many all-campus activities, including Homecoming, UMOC, and the Water Carnival. Members also worked with representatives from other co-ops to present the annual Co-Hop.

Officers during the past year were: President, Mary Lou Anderson; Vice-president, Bette Bown; and Secretary-Treasurer, Marge Austin.

ROBINSON

Robinson House's 14 residents had a chance to start housekeeping early when they combined cooking and cleaning with studies and dating.

Officers were: President, Velma Izzard and Vice-President, Nancy Binsack. Miss Ann Heiss of the Home Economics Department was their faculty advisor.

Among their main social projects was a tea for the faculty members and officers of other living units. Members also participated in intramural sports with coeds from other dormitories, cooperatives and sororities.

ROCHDALE

Rochdale House was named for one of the leaders of a movement to establish co-ops for college students. Members sponsored several social events including a Homecoming Tea to which former residents of the House were invited. They held an open house and several other parties during the school year, in addition to participating in intramural sports.

President of Rochdale was Marilyn Stanton; Secretary-Treasurer, Frances Quiggins; Vice-President and Social Chairman, Ola Belle Steckly; Chaplain, Eleanor Santleman; Etiquette Chairman, Joanne Whitacre; Fire Chief, Ruth Valerius and House Manager, Carolyn Manning.

SANFORD

For economical board and room, Sanford coeds work five and a half hours a week planning meals, cooking, washing dishes and cleaning.

An informal term party, "Harvest Haven" was held fall term at the house. Winter term Sanford House members worked on the Co-Hop. Throughout the year dinners were exchanged with various men's co-ops.

Typical scenes of married housing are, from left: Community wash house, clothes hung navy style; morning mail pickup at the trailer mail room, and the main entrance to Trailer Village.

RED CEDAR TRAILER VILLAGE

The family below enjoys the relative comforts afforded by the expansible trailer which is more roomy than single unit trailers.

Since December of 1946, many of the married students at Michigan State have lived in housing units made available to them by the college at a minimum of cost. Not uncommon in Trailer Village or the Barracks are families whose parents both go to school, work and raise children.

While other living units on campus may have trophies, another type of badge of honor prevails in married housing—with 1100 families in the village, there are 1090 children, an average of .99 children per family.

This year, either trying to be the Joneses or keep up with them or just live well was evidenced by the residents' attempts to maintain homes as comfortable and presentable as possible. Outdoor Bar-B-Q's sprouted in various neighborhoods and husbands could be seen diligently insulating doors, putting up or taking down storm windows and cultivating green thumbs.

A common occurrence at Trailer Village on a winter morning is the failure of cars to start. Here a group of eager students lend a hand to a fellow resident.

Above: While a Spartan spouse waits for gas so she can start breakfast, students employed by the maintenance shack load a stove for delivery to a new living unit.

Right: A never-to-be-forgotten scene in the minds of trailer residents is the daily job of emptying the slop bucket at the community wash building. One of these buildings services 24 trailers, and is a combination rest room, water depot, washroom, and shower room.

Life in the barrack apartments afford some busy moments when as many as five children are given their evening bath in the kitchen sink.

The Barrack apartments boast a co-operative store which is an unofficial meeting place for students and their wives to stop and chat with neighbors. The laundry building is another place to exchange local news.

Student wives living in the barracks had a full social year, with bridge parties, a sewing club, and a bowling team. The Spartan Wives Club offered a place for them to relax over coffee, and many wives were active in the Spartan Nursery, a co-operative nursery school.

The barrack families enjoyed the facilities for entertainment that the college offered throughout the year, such as the Lecture-Concert Series, the World-Travel Series, and the numerous athletic events.

BARRACK APARTMENTS

Below and right: Shopping at the co-op, mailing letters at the barracks postoffice, and doing the family wash, take up much of the time of spouses in the barracks apartments.

The dreary winter months are a far cry from the confusion of children playing and the busy activity of washing cars and dry clothes outdoors that highlight the spring scene.

Below: A student father and his two sons check at the campus police station for a stray bicycle while one of the officers helps them. Over 200 bicycles found their way into the police pool this year.

At their bi-weekly parties, wives discuss the latest trends in husbands and children over a cup of coffee and a hand of bridge.

Styling that influences your Chrysler-built car

You are looking at the C-200, engineered and designed by Chrysler, hand-crafted by Ghia of Turin, Italy. It is powered by the Chrysler FirePower V8 Engine; its brakes are the new, exclusive Chrysler self-energizing disc type; the 17″ wire wheels combine sports car styling with practical brake-cooling design.

This is an "idea car"— an expression in line and in form of the imagination always at work at Chrysler Corporation. From it come many advances that appear in every Chrysler Corporation car. The C-200 reflects continuing Chrysler principles: that beauty, in an automobile, follows function, and that car designs can best be created by designers and engineers, creating together.

JOHN DEERE

QUALITY FARM EQUIPMENT

Wherever around the world you see a John Deere Farm Implement, you'll find on it the leaping deer trademark. That symbol tells you two things—who made the product, and how good it is.

Like the word "sterling" on silver, the John Deere trademark stands for genuine quality—all the way through.

It represents tireless research . . . sound design . . . skilled production . . . high-grade materials.

You can depend on that symbol. It is backed by a reputation built over a period of 115 years' service to agriculture.

REO ...the Class of '53

You hear it everywhere truckers get together: Reo Trucks with Gold Comet Power are the hottest buy in trucking.

It's a tribute to Reo engineering—which has pioneered a host of firsts in automotive design for nearly a half century. Reo's latest achievements—more-load design, Gold Comet engines and now trucks and Gold Comets built especially for LPG—are piling up savings and profits for truckers from coast-to-coast. To believe it—SEE it.

PREXY SAID TODAY:

"Reo wins an oversized diploma as best truck of the year.

EPILOGUE

Editors and Managers ordinarily look upon their publication as more or less "their baby." However, we feel more as if we are the ones who have been growing up, and the Wolverine has been our teacher.

When we were appointed last spring to publish the Michigan State College Yearbook, we were veritable infants in journalistic swaddling clothes. Our first aid and assistance came from the members of the Board of Publications, and from its Director of Student Publications, Bill McIlrath.

There were many who helped us along the way in those first few months. Ed Kase, of the S. K. Smith Company, aided in developing our artistic taste for covers. Ed Hackleman, Frank Persell, and Bob Keene, all of the Indianapolis Engraving Company, gave us the straight scoop on photo-engraving and layout. Skip, Doris, and Frank LeClear, of the LeClear Studio, set the pace by completing the senior and group pictures. John Vitovsky, Steve Arnett, and all at the Franklin DeKleine Company, in reality, carried us pick-a-back through the maze of producing the copy for our Wolverine.

Whenever beseiged by business problems it was a simple matter for us to call upon the friendly assistance of the Administration: Clive Rosenbrook, who kept the book profitable, Jerry Knapp whose assistance and understanding proved invaluable to the Business Manager, and Wayne Van Riper who ably kept track of our unending baskets of mail.

In our home in the Union Building we had many friends. The Union manager, Mike Dmochowski, ever willing to assist, Mrs. Button, who supplied us with additional space when we suffered from growing pains, and "Charlie" Kruklitis, the friendly custodian, who kept our home livable and our humor up.

Special thanks should go to Jean Davis, receptionist for the State News, who carried on our public relations while our doors were locked. Bill Mitcham, manager of the darkroom, who kept our myriad of photographers amply supplied with film and flash bulbs.

Many more have contributed to the success of the 1953 Wolverine. We would like to say to anyone who has had anything to do with the book, and to those mentioned above in particular, Thanks! It has been a long trail but a joyous one.
